The bride entered the church on the arm of her brother (Mr Godfrey Marshall, of Cooma), who gave her away. The bride was magnificently attired in a rich ivory satin duchesse, embroidered with pearl applique. The bodice was of tucked mouseline de soie, over ivory satin, with an exquisite pearl yoke. the under-dress being of beautiful old lace. Her veil of tulle was arranged over a wreath of orange blossom. Her jewels included a diamond bangle and pearl brooch, gifts of the bridegroom.

The bouquet was of white tuber roses, gardenias, orange blossom, with maiden hair and asparagus fern, tied with white satin ribbon. The bridesmaids were Misses Florence and Adelaide, sisters of the bride. They wore both gowned in white silk, daintily tucked and profusely trimmed with lace. The bodices had belts of satin ribbon confining their blousy fullness, transparent yokes and sleeves of lace ; hats of white felt, trimmed with chiffon, pale green ribbon and seagulls. The bridegroom's gifts to them were a necklet and star pendant of pearls; also the bouquets they carried, of red carnations, autumn leaves and asparagus fern tied with broad streamers of pale green ribbon. The bride was also attended by Valerie Marshall, her niece, a charming little girl of six summers, who was daintily attired in white, soft silk, picture hat of cream velvet and chiffon strings. She carried a basket of red roses and autumn leaves, and wore a gold bangle, the gift of the bridegroom. Mr Arthur Davison, of Illawong station, supported the bridegroom.

NIXON - JOHNSTON

There was considerable twitter in town towards noon on Thursday, when crowds of smiling, twittering ladies were seen wending their way towards the Church of England, where a wedding, under somewhat unusual circumstances, was about to come off.

It was the occasion of a marriage between Mr. Charles Nixon, of Gregadoo Station, and Miss Charlotte Elizabeth Johnston.

The church was crowded, as also the approaches thereto. Messrs. Nixon, the sons of the venerable bridegroom, being amongst the wedding party; whilst the youthful bride, elegantly attired, was pronounced by her gazing feminine critics to be extremely pretty, wearing as she did an impressive air of resignation.

In the evening, the happy couple repaired by mail train to Sydney for the purposes of spending the honeymoon.

TUGWELL - POWNALL

Yesterday morning our streets presented an unusual scene of animation between 10 and 11 o'clock, caused by crowds of people wending their way to St. John's Church, on the occasion of the marriage of Miss Kate E. Pownall, daughter of our venerable and respected Archdeacon, with Mr Alfred Tugwell, manager of the A.J.S. Bank at Murrumburrah.

PEISLEY - WOOD

A marriage, which was attended with more than ordinary ceremony, was celebrated on Thursday morning last at St. John's Church by the Venerable Archdeacon Pownall.

The bride was Miss Ellen Jane Wood, sister to Mrs W. Walsh, of "Newtown", and the bridegroom was Dr George Ballantyne Peisley. The bride was richly attired in a cream satin brochure dress, which was tastefully ornamented with orange blossoms and rich Parisian lace. The bridesmaids were eight in number. The Misses Wood wore white silk and blue satin dresses, and Miss E. Byrne and Miss E. Mumford looked exceedingly pretty in pink nun's veiling and satin dresses. Four other young ladies, whose names we didn't ascertain, were dressed in pale blue, and what is termed "crushed strawberry". The whole of the dresses were made by the Misses Warr, of Gurwood Street, who are deserving of the highest praise for their very handsome work.

At the conclusion of the ceremony the wedding party filed out of the church, and drove to Mr. Walsh's residence in Newtown, where dinner was served. A large number of friends of the family were present, and before dispersing many were the wishes expressed for many happy returns of the day.

WILKINSON - LEITCH

On Wednesday last an interesting wedding ceremony took place at Berry Jerry station near Wagga, when Mr Charles S. Wilkinson, F.G.S., Government Geological Surveyor of New South Wales, was married to Miss Eliza J Leitch, eldest daughter of the late Mr John Leitch, of Berry Jerry.

Mr Wilkinson is well known to many Wagga residents, having resided here for some years before accepting his present appointment. The bride's father was one of the pioneer settlers of the Murrumbidgee, and during his lifetime was one of the leading spirits of this town and district.

The marriage was solemnised by the Rev. J.C. McDonald, M.A., of St. Andrews Presbyterian Church, Wagga. A large number of relatives and friends of the bride and bridegroom, from both Sydney and Melbourne were present, with a number of friends from Wagga and surrounding district.

About forty-five persons sat down to the wedding breakfast. A dance followed in the evening, at which a number of additional friends from Wagga were present.

There were eight bridesmaids, being seven sisters of the bride and a niece of the bridegroom. The bride's dress was of cream satin, trimmed with lace and pearls, and the bridesmaids were attired in white Indian silk, trimmed with lace.

The bridal presents were numerous and the choice in design and variety. Notwithstanding the wet weather, everything passed off merrily.

CRAWLEY - DONNELLY

The homestead of North Junee Station was the scene of a very happy ceremony on Tuesday morning last, when Miss Bridget Ann Donnelly, the eldest daughter of Mrs J.J. Donnelly, the popular and respected hostess of the North Junee Station, was married to Mr Mervyn Marmaduke Crawley, eldest son of Mr C. W. Crawley, the well-known freeholder, of Junee.

The ceremony was fixed for 11 o'clock, and precisely at that hour the bride, attended by her bridesmaids, entered the spacious room which had been temporarily fitted up for the celebration of the Nuptial Mass, leaning on the arm of her uncle, Mr P.J. Donnelly, of Bywong, Gundagai, by whom she was given away. The bridegroom being accompanied by Mr James Mackins, Crown Lands Agent at Corowa, as his best man.

The bride was dressed in white ivory satin trimmed with Chantilly lace, with wreath of orange blossoms, and a veil of richly embroidered tulle. The travelling dress was an exquisite goblin-blue cashmere trimmed with broche silk, and tulle bonnet en-suite.

The bridesmaids were Misses Nellie and Florrie Donnelly (sisters of the bride), and Misses Lydia and Florrie Crawley (sisters of the bridegroom), who carried artistically arranged bouquets, and were tastefully dressed in lemon-coloured brocaded nun's veiling, trimmed with broche and lace to match, the two younger bridesmaids being attired in pale pink Indian muslin trimmed tastefully with cream lace, with wreaths of jessamine lace and tulle veils.

The bride and bridegroom left for Sydney by the evening mail train, to which they were escorted by a cavalcade of drags and buggies. They proceeded thence to the Blue Mountains for the honeymoon.

ERSKINE – CULLEN and ERSKINE – OLIVER

A musical, interesting, and fashionable social gathering took place in this remote neighbourhood on the 7th instant, at the residence of Mr J. Erskine, Currawarna, who entertained about 150 friends in honour of the marriage that day of the host's two eldest daughters, the same date being the anniversary of the silver wedding of the host and hostess.

Rev. Mr. Goode performed the marriage ceremony for Miss Sarah J. Erskine and Henry E. Cullen, second son of Mr T. H. Cullen, Currawarna. The bride wore cream broche satin and orange blossom, and the bridesmaids (4) were attired in white muslin and cardinal satin ribbon.

The Rev. Wm. Hill tied the nuptial knot between Miss Ann E. Erskine and Thomas H. Oliver, eldest son of Mr Wm. Oliver, of Currawarna. The bride's dress was composed of cream satin veiled with cream lace, over-skirt looped with cream satin ribbon and white thorne blossom.

The four bridesmaids, who were dressed in white muslin and cardinal satin, were the Misses M. Erskine, Robinson, Dunlop and MacColley. The hostess wore cashmere and lace.

Amongst the guests were Mrs W. Oliver, mother of the bridegroom, in fawn-coloured sateen and brown satin; Mrs T. H. Cullen, mother of the bridegroom, lavender sateen, cardinal merino, with knots of blue and white ribbon, and white roses in hair; Mrs J. Flanagan (Rock View), very rich black satin broche; Mrs Fleming, black silk trimmed with broche; Mrs F. Sheppard, cashmere and satin broche; Mrs W. Robinson, black cashmere and satin; Mrs W. H. Rowe (Quambi), magenta silk with black Spanish lace, over-skirt looped with black satin ribbon, bodice trimmed with lace and jet; Mrs C. Kimber, black silk trimmed with broche, over-skirt, black Spanish lace; Mrs J. Cullen, fawn cashmere, ruby velvet; Mrs A. Campbell, black cashmere and brioche; Mrs T. Campbell, white figured muslin; Mrs M. ## MCALISTER – WHEELER

St Michael's Church was the scene of a very interesting ceremony yesterday afternoon, when Mr Peter William McAlister and Miss Margaret Wheeler were joined in the bonds of wedlock, the Rev. Father Kennedy officiating. The ceremony was witnessed by a very large concourse of the relatives and acquaintances of the happy pair. The service was very impressively conducted, Mr Contserdine officiating at the organ.

The bride was dressed in white liberty silk trimmed with white lace, wreath of orange blossoms and veil. She was attended by three bridesmaids, the principal, Miss Alice McAlister, cousin of the bridegroom, dressed in nun's veiling and trimmed with salmon pink, white sailor's hat trimmed to match; also Miss Mary McAlister, cousin of the bridegroom, and Miss Josephine McAlister, sister of the bridegroom, both dressed in blue shot silks with blue plush hats to match.

Amongst the dresses were noticed the following: - Mrs Wheeler, mother of the bride, in black broche silk; Mrs P McAlister, mother of the bridegroom, in brown liberty silk trimmed with pale blue; Mrs G. R. Ray, aunt of the bridegroom, in black rural silk trimmed with beads and light bonnet; Mrs Dr. O'Connor, in brown; Mrs. John Donnelly (June), in black silk and goblin blue bonnet; Miss Treacey, in cream muslin; Miss Agnes O'Connor, in navy blue and plush hat to match; Mrs M. Maher, in maroon satin; Mrs John King (The Rock), black satin; Mrs Luke Hyland, navy blue.

After the wedding ceremony the bridal party and their immediate friends adjourned to the house of the bride's parents, the Royal Hotel, Baylis Street, where refreshments were partaken of, and the usual compliments and good wishes were showered upon the newly married couple, who proceeded yesterday afternoon, by mail train, to Sydney.

MONGAN - MACKAY

A pretty wedding was celebrated in St. Michael's Church on Tuesday afternoon last, by the Rev. Father Gallagher, the contracting parties being Mr John Joseph Mongan and Miss Bridget Mary Mackay.

Though the day was bleak, with intermittent showers of a cold drizzly nature, a large number of friends and acquaintances gathered in the church to witness the linking together, "for better or for worse", of the young couple, both of whom are favourably known in Wagga.

The bride's dress was of white liberty silk, with train, and was very prettily trimmed with lace and flowers; a flowing tulle veil, and the indispensable orange blossoms, added grace to the effect of a costume, which was in excellent taste.

Miss Mackay, as bridesmaid, wore a striking and effective costume of Jubilee red, not a vestige of any other shade or colour being perceptible from the hem of the dress to the tip of the feather in the hat.

CHARLEY – SHEPARD

On Wednesday last the Wagga Wesleyan Church was the scene of a very pretty wedding, when Miss Mary Priscilla Shepard, of Brucedale, was united to Mr John J Charley, brother of Mr Philip Charley, of Broken Hill.

The bride wore a dress of white nun's veiling, with a complete front of white bugles, and sprays of orange blossoms, together with the usual wreath and veil, and carried in hand a magnificent bouquet of camellias and ferns. She entered the church on her father's arm, attended by two bridesmaids (her own sister and the bridegroom's sister). They wore white bishop's lawn dresses and white straw bonnets, daintily relieved with salmon pink, and bouquets of white and pink camellias.

Amongst the guests were the bridegroom's mother, in a grey check, and pretty bonnet to match; Mrs George Shephard, in a cashmere and plush of a pretty new shade of brown, with white bonnet and plush to match; Mrs Foster, grey tweed and plush costume; Mrs Shannon, grey silk trimmed with ruby plush and real lace; Miss Ewens, dark green dress, with green bonnet; Miss Morgan, white embroidered dress and liberty sash, and plush bonnet of heliotrope.

After the ceremony, the party returned to the residence of the bride's parents to the breakfast. About thirty partook of the good things prepared by Mrs Roulston, the table being tastefully as well as bountifully arranged. The cake was made in Wagga, and consisted of five tiers, and was ornamented on top with a lovely basket of suitable flowers.

After the breakfast was over, the friends invited to the party given in the evening, began to arrive, and before long about 80 ladies and gentlemen were present, some having come over 60 miles. Dancing commenced at 7 o'clock and was kept up about daylight. Amongst the ladies were Miss Menzies, biscuit colour and pale blue; Miss McCaig, black velvet and pink; Mrs McCrea, cream and pale blue; Miss Minnie Munro, white and pink satin and ribbon; Miss Rose Munro, white and pale blue; Miss Flood, grey and pink; Miss Ferguson, cream veiling, cardinal tulle front; Miss M Ferguson, cream veiling and cardinal satin ribbons; Miss Montgomery, white satin bodice, white embroidered skirt; Miss Crowlett, black dress, white tulle and flowers; Miss Clarke, white skirt, striped brown bodice; Miss Fisher, black velvet and pale blue; Miss Pulver, pale blue and white lace; Mrs Pulver, fiscille coloured satin and bugle front; Miss A Morgan, white embroidered dress and heliotrope sash; Miss A Evans, pale blue zephyr and ribbons; Miss Dawson, grey check, with ruby plush panels; Miss Ray, pale pink sateen.

The bride's travelling dress consisted of grey check, and a grey and pink bonnet. They left by express for Melbourne and Bathurst, where the honeymoon is to be spent.

DOUBLEDAY – MORGAN

A very interesting ceremony took place at St. Andrew's Church, Coolamon, on Tuesday afternoon, 16th October, when the usually quiet little town was all excitement, the occasion being the marriage of Mr George Hypolite Doubleday, of the District Survey Office, Wagga to Miss Lily (Elizabeth Martha) Morgan, eldest daughter of Mr C.J. Morgan, Railway Station Master, of Coolamon.

The Church was prettily decorated with ferns, waratahs, etc., and before the hour appointed for the ceremony, was well filled with friends of the bride, who has organist for the past two years, the front seats being occupied by most of the guests, many of whom had travelled long distances to be present.

The marriage ceremony was performed by the Rev. McIntyre, of St. Andrew's Church, Wagga, assisted by the Rev. M. Moran, of St. Andrew's Church, Coolamon, in which latter church the ceremony took place.

The bride wore a white liberty silk, with handsome white bead front, looped with orange blossoms, tulle veil, and orange wreath. The bridesmaids were two in number, Miss Susie Trenerry, of Picton, and Miss Amy Morgan, sister of the bride, and were attired in pink and white, with tints to match. The groomsmen were Mr William McLean, of the District Survey Office, Forbes, and Mr Ernest Stinson, of Coolamon.

As the bridal party was leaving the church the "Wedding March" was beautifully rendered on the organ by Professor E. Markt, of Wagga, who was also a guest for the day, and as buggies were in waiting, the company were driven to the residence of Mr Morgan. Here the wedding party were photographed by an amateur photographer, in the person of the head groomsmen (Mr William McLean), after which an adjournment was made to the adjacent concert hall, where a sumptuous and tastefully arranged breakfast had been prepared, the catering being in the hands of Mrs Roulston.

Shortly after the conclusion of the breakfast, at which the customary toasts were drunk, the bride and bridegroom, amid showers of rice and slippers, took their departure by train, en route for Moss Vale and Shoalhaven, at which last named place the happy pair propose spending their honeymoon, prior to returning to Wagga, where they intend residing.

ROBERTS – PALMERTON

A very nice wedding took place on the 20th inst. At the Church of England, Coolamon, in the presence of a number of friends who assembled at the church to witness it, when Miss Ada Alice Palmerton and Mr James Cyril Roberts took each other for better or for worse. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. M. Moran, of Coolamon.

The bride was attired in a very pretty costume of white liberty silk, with the customary wreath and veil, and a bouquet of white roses and maiden hair ferns. The chief bridesmaid (sister of the bride) wore a pretty white embroidered costume, with liberty sash; the other bridesmaid (sister of the bridegroom) wore a cream embroidered dress and salmon pink ribbons. Mr J. T. Roberts (brother of the bridegroom) and Mr W. Palmerton (brother of the bride) acted as groomsmen.

At the termination of the ceremony the bridal party repaired to the residence of the bride's parents, where a sumptuous breakfast was partaken of. The presents were numerous and pretty, as well as useful. In the evening a large number of friends responded to the invitations issued for a dance, when about thirty couples assembled.

Many of the ladies wore very nice dresses, the most noticeable being Miss C. Palmerton, attired in white and rose pink satin, Miss S. Palmerton, cream embroidered muslin; Mrs Palmerton, pink striped zephyr; Mrs H. Munro (sister of the bridegroom), white embroidered costume, cardinal blouse and ribbons; Mrs F. Roberts, blue embroidered zephyr; Miss Snodgrass, cream nun's veiling skirt, cream plush bodice, and pale blue trimmings; the Misses McNickle (3), black cashmere skirt, black and white silk bodice, heliotrope trimmings; Miss Patterson, white and pale blue plush; Miss F. Patterson, green cashmere and plush; Miss E. Robinson, white skirt, pink and white satin bodice; Miss C. Robinson, white skirt, pink satin bodice; the Misses Munro (2), pink and white, and blue and white, respectively; Mrs M. Patterson, gobelin blue cashmere, white blouse; Miss Byrnes, pink zephyr, smocked bodice; Mrs Beasley, pink zephyr skirt, black bodice; Mrs McCrea, white skirt, blue ribbons, and silver flowers; Miss O'Hehir, ruby skirt, pink bodice, cardinal ribbons and Miss F. ## KENDALL – SNODGRASS

A wedding took place at Summerlee, Sandy Creek, on Wednesday last, 17th inst. At the residence of Mr James Snodgrass, when his daughter Miss Elizabeth McG. Snodgrass, was united in the bonds of matrimony to Mr John Henry Kendall, of Flowerpot Valley, Yerong. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. J. McIntyre, Presbyterian Minister, Wagga Wagga, in the presence of a very large assembly of relatives and friends.

There were three bridesmaids, Miss M. Snodgrass (sister of the bride), Miss Brettell, and Miss Seymour, from Downside, near Wagga. The bridegroom was attended by three brothers of the bride, Mr. George, Allan and William Snodgrass.

The bride was dressed very handsomely in a navy blue velvet costume, broche body and train of velvet same colour, trimmed with cream Vandyke, wreath and veil. The bridesmaids, who were all dressed alike, wore white embroidered dresses, with pink liberty sashes.

A large number of presents were sent by the numerous friends of the bride and bridegroom were displayed for the inspection of those present, and they were much admired. They included a great many very useful articles. The wedding breakfast was tastefully laid out in a large marquee erected for the occasion, and was partaken of by a numerous company of relatives and friends.

PIDDINGTON – BELLAIR

One of the prettiest weddings ever witnessed in Wagga took place at St. John's Church yesterday, when Miss Blanche Bellair, daughter of Mr. Thomas Bellair, was united to Mr. Frederic H. Piddington.

The church was tastefully decorated, and long before the appointed hour was filled with visitors. Most noticeable amongst the decorations was an arch of ivy and white roses over the communion rails under which the bride and bridegroom knelt while the ceremony was being performed. On each side of this arch was displayed a large F and B, being the initial letters of the Christian name of the bridegroom and bride.

There was an immense crowd of spectators in the vicinity of the bride's parent's residence watching the departure of the happy pair for the church. The vehicle of the bridegroom was the first to leave, and was followed almost immediately by the carriage containing the bridesmaids, the bride accompanied by her mother following in another carriage shortly afterwards. The carriages of all the bridal party were supplied by Mr John Hely.

On arrival at the church the bride was led to the altar by her father, who afterwards gave her away. Mr Albert Piddington, Professor of English at the University, Sydney, brother to the bridegroom acted as "best man" while the bridesmaids were Misses Ethel and Edith Bellair, sisters of the bride, and Miss Alice McCarron (of Melbourne).

As the bride entered the church the choir sang "The voice that breathed o'er Edom". The organist (Mr F.C. Burry) then played "The Vienna March" and "Gavotte and au Phine". The choir afterwards sang "Deus Misserattur" and another marriage hymn, and the organist played the "Persian March", and as the "happy couple" were leaving the church, the "Wedding March". The Venerable Archdeacon Pownall officiated at the ceremony.

The church was crowded to excess, and there were almost as many outside the building unable to gain an entrance. After the ceremony the wedding party and friends adjourned to the Commercial Hotel, the residence of the bride's parents, for breakfast, where a sumptuous repast had been prepared.

The happy couple took their departure by the evening mail train for the Blue Mountains, where they intend spending their honeymoon before going to their future home, at Harwood, on the Clarence. The presents to the bride were numerous and costly.

IRVINE – BENSON

A very pretty wedding was celebrated in St. Andrews Presbyterian Church at noon on Thursday, the contracting parties being Miss Mary Ann Benson, only daughter of Mr John Benson, of Adelong, and Mr James Irvine, of Gumly Gumly. The Rev. J MacIntyre officiated, and the choir rendered a special wedding hymn as the bride entered the church.

The bride wore cream cashmere with the usual wreath and veil, and the attendant bridesmaids were Miss Jory, Miss Irvine and Miss Sarah Irvine. The bride's bouquet was composed of snowdrops, white camellias and hyacinths. The groomsmen were Messrs. R. H. Hill, J. Benson and J. Birch.

There was a large congregation at the church to witness the ceremony. Mr and Mrs Irvine, with their friends, were afterwards driven to the residence of the bridegroom's mother at Gumly, where the wedding breakfast had been prepared.

During the afternoon the party went for a drive to Alfredtown, and the evening was spent in games of various kinds interspersed with singing and dancing. Altogether a most enjoyable time was spent by all the company, which was very large. The presents to the young couple were numerous and costly.

Mr and Mrs Irvine left the same evening by the express for Melbourne, several friends assembling at the station to witness their departure, and shower them with good wishes and congratulations.

MUMFORD – GRAY

A very pretty wedding was celebrated at St. John's Church, Wagga, at 2:30pm, on Wednesday, 1th inst., when Miss Eliza A. Gray was married to Mr Ernest A. Mumford.

The bride, who carried a lovely bouquet (from Messrs. Searle and Sons, Sydney), looked very nice in white brocaded pongee silk with wreath and veil, and wore a beautiful gold bangle the gift of the bridegroom.

Seven bridesmaids accompanied her to the altar, four being attired in cream and three in pale blue nun's veiling.

After the ceremony the wedding party adjourned to the residence of the bride's mother, where a capital wedding breakfast was partaken of, and the usual toasts proposed and responded to.

In the evening a social was given, when there were about thirty-five couples present. The wedding presents were costly and numerous, and included a very handsome present from Messrs. Eaton and Tewksbury, also two from the employees of that firm.

The happy couple left by express for Sydney where they intend to spend their honeymoon.

CARTER – CRAIN

A somewhat interesting marriage took place at the Presbyterian church, Adelong, on Friday, 1st January, by the Rev. George Stewart, M.A., between Mr William A. Carter – known to fame by his poetic writings and general dabbling in literature – son of J.A. Carter, Esq., Middle Adelong, and grandson of the late John Pottinger Birkhead, surgeon, London, to Miss Lizzie (Mary A.) Crain, eldest daughter of Thomas Crain, Sq., of Burnside, Grahamstown.

The church was prettily decorated by lady friends with flowers and greenery, and by the time the bridal party arrived there were large numbers of people in the church. Miss Curtis, organist of the church, played the “Wedding March”, as the bridal party left the communion rails.

After the interesting ceremony was over the newly married couple, their relatives, and a large number of other friends required to the residence of John Channon, Esq., where a sumptuous repast was discussed, the toasts usual upon such occasions being warmly given.

The bride looked charming and was attired in a rich costume of white cashmere and brocade, trimmed with orange blossoms. The chief bridesmaid was Miss Selina Crain (sister of the bride) in cream and canary. The other two bridesmaids were Miss Turner (Adelong Crossing) in white satin; Miss C. Turner (Adelong Crossing) in white muslin with orange trimming. The best man on the occasion was Mr Alick Crain (brother of the bride).

In the evening Mr and Mrs Will Carter left for the metropolis, via Gundagai, and on leaving Mr Channon’s residence there was a perfect deluge of rice and other concomitants, in the way of old boots, which are supposed to express pleasure when a couple are married.

HALE – CLARK

A very pretty wedding was celebrated at Cowabbee on Thursday last, when Mr Charles James Hale, only son of Mr. C. W. Hale, JP, of the Grange, Mimosa, was united in the bonds of matrimony with Miss Annie Dunlop Clark, eldest daughter of Mr William Clark, of Mountain View, Cowabbee.

The wedding took place at the residence of the bride's father. The wedding was announced to take place at 10:30am, and from daylight till that hour numerous vehicles, laden with living freights representing the friends of the bride and bridegroom arrived, and before the appointed hour a large number of visitors had assembled at Mountain View.

Punctually to time, the bride was led to the alter by her father, and the ceremony was immediately gone through by the Rev. Mr Fenwick, pastor of the Presbyterian Church at Narrandera, of which district Cowabbee forms a part. The bridesmaids were Misses Lizzie and Jessie Clark, sisters of the bride, and Miss Mallett, niece of the bridegroom. Mr A. Meurant performed the duties of best man, and had in attendance Messrs R. Clark and R. Gemmell.

The bride was attired in cream nun's veiling, with wreath and veil, and the bridesmaids in cream silk.

After the ceremony an adjournment was immediately made for the breakfast which was partaken of in a large marquee erected for the occasion in close proximity to the homestead. Two large tables were erected in the marquee, and tastefully laid out by Mrs Roulston, of Wagga, under whose management the whole of the catering was ably carried out. The breakfast was presided over by Mr Wm. Fisher, uncle to the bride, Mr Basil Bennett, of Wagga, occupying the vice chair. Owing to the great number present three sittings had to be arranged for.

The following toasts were proclaimed, Mr Meurant proposed the health of the "Bride and Bridegroom", and in doing so wished them every happiness. The Bridegroom in responding thanked them for the hearty manner in which they had drunk the health of his wife and himself. HE would also take that opportunity of thanking them for the handsome presents which had been given to his bride that morning.

The Rev. Mr Fenwick, in proposing the health of the parents of the happy pair, said he had very great pleasure in doing so. They were much esteemed by everyone in the locality, and the more they were known, the better they were liked. Mr C. Hale, in responding, said he could scarcely express the pride her had taken in the ceremony of the marriage of Miss Clark and his only son that day. He would take that opportunity of giving the newly married couple a few words of advice, which he thought would be appropriate at the present time. There were, he said five things on which they should build the foundation of their future, viz: - industry, truth, sobriety, carefulness, and perseverance.

Mr Robert Clark proposed "The health of the Bridesmaids". Mr Robert Gemmell responded.

Mr Boyd proposed "The Health of the Visitors". Mr W. Rand responded.

Mr Cohen proposed "The Health of the Rev. Mr Fenwick". Rev. Mr Fenwick responded.

The health of "Absent Friends" was next proposed by the Chairman, who said that he trusted all of them would drink the health of their own individual absent friends.

The health of the Press was then proposed, and responded to by a representative of this journal.

A vote of thanks to the Chairman was then moved by the Rev. Mr Fenwick, and carried by acclamation.

The singing of the National Anthem brought the proceedings to a close.

At about 1 o'clock the happy couple started with a four-in-hand, piloted by Mr A Meurant, for Grong Grong Railway Station, en route for Sydney, where they intend spending their honeymoon. A three-in-hand vehicle also left at the same time conveying the bridesmaids and several friends, who intended seeing the happy couple safely in the train. As the latter vehicle was leaving the horses became frightened at the cheering and the showers of rice which were being thrown about, and bolted. Miss Mallett, one of the bridesmaids, becoming alarmed, jumped out of the vehicle, and in doing so, fell on the ground which such force as to render her insensible. She was immediately carried back to the house where all the attention that could be accorded her in the absence of a doctor was given by a number of the ladies present.

Word was at once sent to Narrandera for medical aid, but it was half-past 1 o'clock next morning before Dr. Mitchell arrived, the young lady being still in a state of unconsciousness, and the doctor remained in attendance till about 9 o'clock, when the unfortunate sufferer showed signs of recovering. On making an examination of the injuries sustained, the doctor discovered that Miss Mallett had sustained a fracture at the back of the skull in addition to a broken ankle joint, but give it as his opinion that with careful nursing she would soon pull through.

BEDFORD - MUSGROVE

A very pretty and fashionable wedding took place at St John's Church, Wagga, on Wednesday last, when Mr William Newell Musgrove, son of the late Mr W. A. Musgrove, Commissioner of Customs of Victoria, was married to Miss Eleanor Martha Bedford, only daughter of Mr William Bedford, of Wagga, formerly of Kajuligah Station.

The marriage was celebrated by the Rev. Mr Ellis, of Albury, and the bride was given away by her father, Miss Shaw, of Melbourne, acting as bridesmaid. MR Musgrove was attended by Mr Arthur F. Hooper, of the Union Mortgage Co. of Melbourne.

The bride was attired in a figured liberty silk dress, with embroidered tulle veil, and her skirt was beautifully draped with lace worked in true lovers' knots. She also wore pearl ornaments with the usual orange blossoms. The strikingly handsome appearance of the bride was the theme of general admiration.

The costume worn by Miss Shaw was of white china silk, trimmed with gold braid, and she carried a basket of beautifully arranged yellow roses, and wore a lovely pearl brooch, the gift of the bridegroom. Mrs Bedford, the bride's mother, wore a black satin gown, draped with black lace relieved with white trimmings.

The church, which had been most effectively decorated for the occasion by Mrs R.M. Chapman, of the A.J.S. Bank, presented a most pleasing appearance. Owing to the wide popularity of the bride, the sacred edifice was completely crowded with visitors. The wedding service was a full choral one, the wedding march being played with good effect at its conclusion by the Mr F. C. Burry, the organist of the church.

After the ceremony, the wedding party adjourned to the residence of the bride's parents, where breakfast was partaken of by a few intimate friends of the family only. The happy pair left by the evening train for Pullitop, the station of the Messrs Westby, which had been kindly placed at their disposal for the honeymoon. The presents to the bride were numerous and valuable, including several cheques for respectable amounts.

HALLORAN – HALLORAN

A very quiet wedding was celebrated at St. Mary's Cathedral, Sydney, on Wednesday afternoon last, when Mr Thomas Halloran, of Fernleigh Wagga, was united to Miss Annie Halloran, of Balmain.

The bride wore her travelling costume of tan coloured cashmere, trimmed with brown velvet, and hat to correspond. She was given away by her brother, Mr John Halloran, and her elder sister acted in the capacity of bridesmaid.

The Rev. Father Glasheen officiated at the altar, and after the signing of the register, the party adjourned to Quong Tart's rooms, Kings Street, where the customary wedding refreshments were served, the tables being laid in a private room upstairs, and prettily decorated with tea roses, dahlias and casmeas. After a pleasant hour had been spent in discussing the viands, toasting the bride, and speechmaking, the newly wedded pair departed amid the hearty congratulations of their friends' for Bulli, a charming spot on the Illawarra line.

The wedding party was a small one, consisting only of the immediate relatives of the bride and bridegroom.

JACKSON – WUNSCH

A very pretty wedding was celebrated in St. John's Church, Wagga, on Wednesday afternoon, when Mr Andrew Louis Wunsch and Miss Alice Jackson, daughter of Mr W. Jackson, of Wagga, were united in the bonds of matrimony, the Very Rev. Dean Pownall performing the ceremony. There was a large attendance at the church to witness the ceremony.

The bride, who was led to the altar by the father, was attired in a handsome costume of white floral liberty silk and bridal wreath, veil and display of orange blossoms. The bridesmaids, were the Misses Bertha and Minnie Wunsch, sisters of the bridegroom, and wore dresses of cream nun's veiling trimmed with lace and ribbons, with hats to match, and each carried a handsome bouquet of white flowers.

On leaving the church the happy couple were greeted with showers of rice from their numerous friends. The party were then driven to the residence of the bride's parents, where a sumptuous breakfast was partaken of. The health of the bride and bridegroom was proposed by Dean Pownall, and the health of the bridesmaids was proposed by the Rev. P.M. Flinn. These and other toasts were duly honoured.

In the evening a party was given in honour of the occasion by Mr and Mrs Jackson, and was attended by a large number of friends. The happy pair left Wagga on their honeymoon tour by Thursday morning's express for Sydney. The presents to the young couple were numerous, and many of them very handsome and costly.

BRACKEN - CHICKEN

A very pretty but quiet wedding was celebrated by the Rev. J. MacIntyre at the residence of Mrs. Chicken, Albury Road, on Thursday last, when Senior-Constable William Bracken, was married to Miss Margaret (Maggie) Chicken.

The bride, who was attired in a handsome costume and wore the usual wreath and veil, was given away by her oldest brother, Mr. John Chicken. Miss Annie Chicken acted as bridesmaid, and Constable M. Wilson attended on the bridegroom.

In the evening a number of the friends of the happy couple assembled at the house and dancing was indulged in by all present. The company wiled away a pleasant evening till half-past-one o'clock, when they escorted Mr. and Mrs. Bracken to the railway station to give them a send-off on their honeymoon tour to Sydney. Showers of rice and numerous slippers, were thrown at the happy pair.

The presents to the bride were numerous and amongst them were valuable and useful articles. At the conclusion of the social evening held in connection with the Presbyterian Sunday school on Monday evening last, Miss Chicken was made recipient of a handsome gift by her fellow teachers. The presentation, which took the form of a beautiful silver biscuit barrel, was presented to Miss Chicken by Mr. A. G. Kebblewhite, superintendent of the Sunday school, who, in a short speech, spoke in high terms of her many good qualities and of the great interest she had always taken for many years in the work of the Sunday school.

The gift had been given, he said, by the teachers as a token of the good fellowship that existed amongst the teachers and Miss Chicken, and also as a souvenir of her approaching marriage. Mr. Kebblewhite also, on behalf of the teachers, wished her every happiness in the future. The Rev. J. MacIntyre, pastor of the church, responded on behalf of the recipient, who, who felt sure, would always prize the gift, not only for its intrinsic value, but also for the feelings which prompted it.

PIKE – BOOTH

The marriage of Miss Elizabeth Pike, daughter of Mr J. A. Pike, of Wagga, and Mr Abraham Vincent Booth, son of Mr Abraham Booth, of Gobbagombalin Station, near Wagga, took place at the Wesleyan Church yesterday. The ceremony was witnessed by a large number of persons.

The bridesmaids were Miss Pike, sister of the bride, and Miss Alice Booth, sister of the bridegroom. The church was tastefully decorated. At the communion rails was a large arch formed by flowers and leaves, and there were two arches erected in the aisles.

The bride, who looked very pretty in her remarkably nice costume, wore a white cashmere dress train, and long veil, caught up by orange blossoms. The shoulders of the dress were also finished off with orange blossoms.

The bride and bridegroom arrived at the church a few minutes after noon. As they entered the building, a wedding march was played by Herr Jacoby on the church organ, and by Mr E.C. Astley (violin). The officiating minister, the Rev. M. Maddern (pastor of the church), opened the proceedings by giving out the hymn "The voice that breathed o'er Eden", the instrumental accompaniment to which was played by the musicians named. The marriage ceremony was then performed. Miss Pike was given away by her father, and the bridegroom was attended by his brother, Mr William Booth, as best man.

The newly wedded pair then left the church, their path being strewn with flowers by two little girls, and a wedding march was again played. They entered their carriage amid a shower of rice and were driven to the residence of the bride's parents, Crampton Street, where the wedding breakfast was served. The caterer was Mrs Roulston, who provided an excellent repast. The wedding cake was provided by Mr Chas. Cooke. About twenty guests were present, comprising chiefly the members of the respective families directly interested.

About 3pm, Mr and Mrs Booth left for their home, "Elsinore", which is situated about sixteen miles from Wagga.

The wedding presents formed a numerous collection. Nearly all of them are of a useful and valuable nature, some being besides very handsome. They comprise: Family Bible; clock; 2 silver butter knives, 1 silver bread fork; 1 pair electro plated salt cellars, 1 set electro plated serviette rings; electro plated teapot; set of silver dessert knives and forks; set of silver afternoon tea spoons, sugar tongs; 1 cheese dish; set of silver jam spoons; 1 China dessert service; 1 pair of oil paintings; 1 hand-painted plaque; 1 work basket; pair of specimen glasses; electro plated cruet; electro plated jam dish; 1 cosey; 2 cushions; 2 pair polished horns; gold bracelet set with pearls; 1 set table linen; mother of pearl paper knife; 2 sachets; 1 glass bucket of shells; Wordsworth's poems; four o'clock tea tray; china ornaments; travelling rug; coffee pot; teapot; table doyleys and tray cloths; 2 woollen wraps and slippers; lamp; hand-painted satin bracket; pineapple glass sugar bowl and sugar dish; 1 bank note; 1 pair porcelain hand paintings.

CAMERON – WEBSTER

A quiet wedding took place at Junee on the 7th instant, the bride being Isabel Rose Cameron (second daughter of Mr Donald Cameron, lately of Wagga) and the bridegroom Mr Wallace Webster, of Bourke. The celebration was held at the residence of the bride's maternal grandmother, Mrs H. Beattie (widow of Mr Hugh Beattie, of Brooklyn Wagga), and the officiating minister was the Rev J. McIntyre, of St Andrews, Wagga.

The bride, who was given away by her father, wore a stylish travelling gown of navy blue blanket serge, made with the fashionable trained skirt; Henry IV coat, having vest and cavalier cuffs of fawn coloured cloth, navy blue hat, with fawn bows and feathers, and a handsome ruby and pearl brooch (the bridegroom's gift).

The bridesmaids, Miss Jeanie Cameron (sister) and Miss Mary Davis (cousin of the bride) wore stylish walking costumes of navy estamene serge trimmed with astrakhan; and hats to match, and pretty gold and opal brooches (gifts from the bridegroom).

The wedding party consisted only of the members of the bride's family and nearest relatives and Messrs Hugh and Jack Cameron acted as best man and groomsman respectively for the occasion. At the conclusion of the ceremony the party sat down to breakfast, the tables being artistically decorated with white camellias, heath, narcissi, St. John's lilies, and ferns, sent from Pearce Bros., Kingston, Sydney.

Shortly afterwards the newly wedded pair (who wished to catch the Melbourne mail train) departed, amid the hearty good wishes and congratulations of their friends for a short tour, journeying to the Western district, where they will reside. The bride was the recipient of a number of handsome presents and letters of congratulation on the happy event.

SHAW – HEATHER

On Wednesday, 9th November, a quiet wedding was celebrated at the Carrington Hotel, Wagga, the contracting parties being Mr George Shaw, who hails from Tasmania, and Miss Alice Heather, a native of Adelong. The Rev. H. Duncan, C.E., tied the knot.

The bride was dressed in navy blue serge and crème cashmere – with an exceptional display of orange blossoms (natural and artificial) and the usual wreaths and veil. Miss P. Heather, acted as bridesmaid and was dressed in white. The bride was given away by her brother (W.D. Heather), and Mr R. Shaw was groomsman.

After the ceremony was over an adjournment was made for refreshments, the Rev. H. Duncan occupied the chair, proposed the health of the “Bride and Bridegroom”, which was enthusiastically received and responded to; the other toasts honoured were “The Bridesmaid and Groomsman” and the “Hostess”. The bride cake, which ornamented the table, was made by Mr Cooke of Baylis Street, and was a credit to the maker.

The presents were very numerous, and included articles costly, useful and ornamental. After a pleasant two hours had been spent the happy couple started for home amidst showers of rice.

O'BRIEN – BOLGER

A very pretty wedding took place at The Priory, Bullenbong, on Wednesday, 26th April, when Mr John Henry O'Brien, of Warren, was married to Miss Hannah J M Bolger, second daughter of Mrs Bolger, a well-known resident for many years of The Rock district. Mr O'Brien is brother to The Rev. Father O'Brien (of Cooma). He is also nephew to the Very Rev. Dean O'Brien (of North Sydney) and Mr James O'Brien (of Braidwood).

The marriage ceremony was performed by The Rev. Father O'Brien (Brother of the bridegroom), who also celebrated the Nuptial Mass, assisted by the Rev. Father Cussen (of Wagga). Mr James O'Brien (another brother of the bridegroom) was best man, and Miss Mary Ellen Bolger (sister of the bride) acted as bridesmaid.

The bride wore an exquisitely beautiful dress of pale grey silk, profusely trimmed with rich Melchin lace, wreath of orange blossoms, and long tulle veil, and she carried in her hands a lovely bouquet of flowers, made of orange blossoms, white lilac, and maiden hair ferns. She also wore a beautiful jewelled cross, the gift of the bridegroom.

Miss Mary Ellen Bolger wore a very pretty costume of ivory crepon, with embroidery of pale pink and delicate laces. She also wore a wreath of pale pink lilac, and lilac blossoms in her dress. The bride's mother had on a rich black silk, and Mrs James Bolger, jun., sister-in-law of the bride, who has recently arrived from America on her honeymoon trip, looked remarkably well in a dress of white cashmere, with white figured silk, and soft laces, and a small princess bonnet of white velvet.

Among the guests who attended were – Mr and Mrs Bryan Ferri, Miss Bridgie Ferry, Mrs Coffey, and Mr and Mrs O'Byrne, of Melbourne. After the ceremony the breakfast was partaken of, and the toasts duly honoured. During the evening the bride's mother entertained a large party, when dancing continued till daylight. The happy couple, on account of the inclemency of the weather, were enabled to remain to the ball given in their honour, when the bride wore a pale pink cashmere evening dress, with orange blossoms.

On the following day Mr and Mrs O'Brien set out for Sydney amid showers of rice. The travelling dress was of terra cotta cloth, with Stuart sleeves and Medici's collar of richly brocaded velvet, with a three quarter cloak to match.

LYNDON – BOX

The marriage of Miss Jane Ann Lyndon (daughter of Mrs Lyndon, of Clonnegonnell, Gobbagombalin), and Mr Benjamin Box, of North Wagga, took place at two o'clock yesterday afternoon at the residence of Mr Henry Lampe (brother-in-law of the bride), Fitzmaurice Street Wagga. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Mr Bates.

Mr George Lyndon gave the bride away, and the bridesmaids were three nieces of the bride – Miss Jane Lampe (who was attired in brown cashmere): and Misses Fanny and Annie Lampe, each of whom wore white muslin.

The bride's costume was an extremely pretty one, comprising an embroidered bishop's lawn with wreath and veil.

About thirty persons sat down to the wedding breakfast, a sumptuous repast having been supplied by Mrs Roulston, who also made the wedding cake.

The room in which the ceremony was performed was very tastefully decorated by Miss Jane Lampe. Mrs Roulston donated a floral motto, "May they be happy", which was nicely worked and composed of chrysanthemums. Another motto was also sent by the same donor, and comprised a double heart, and was made up of white chrysanthemum blooms.

Yesterday evening a dance was held at Mr Lampe's house, in which a large number of persons took part, the newly married pair also being present.

BROCK – MCCRAE

It will interest a large circle of friends in the district (writes the Young Argus) to learn that Mrs Bessie Fraser Brock, widow of the late Frederick Aungier Brock, has again entered the married state. The lady was, on the 28th June last, united in the bonds of wedlock to Mr John Morrison McCrae, a gentleman also well known in this district and now resident secretary of the Mutual Assurance Society of Victoria, in Sydney.

The wedding took place at Mulderg, St Kilda, near Melbourne and the ceremony was performed by the Rev. Samuel Robinson, D.D., uncle of the bride.

The bride is also well known in Wagga, being the eldest daughter of the late Dr. Robinson.

MIDDLETON - FALLON

The Union Church at Humula was the scene of a very pretty wedding when Mr Robert James Middleton, only son of Mr G. T. Middleton, led to the hymeneal altar, Miss Elizabeth Catherine Fallon, second daughter of Mr. W. Fallon, of Adelong. This interesting ceremony was performed by the Rev. Alexander McKinley, of Germanton.

The bride was tastefully attired in dress of cream Indian muslin, trimmed with wide cream lace and orange blossoms, with the customary wreath and veil, and really looked charming. Her chief bridesmaid, Miss Edith Middleton, sister of the bridegroom, looked very pretty in cream Indian muslin, with wide old gold brocade sash, with hat, trimmed with old gold chiffon.

The church was crowded with spectators, who took great interest in the proceedings. "The Wedding March" was played on the organ by Mr C. Cotter. Upon the bridal party leaving the church, showers of rice descended upon them from all quarters.

The bridal party then proceeded to the residence of Mr G. Middleton, where breakfast was partaken of and the usual loyal toasts given and responded to wishing the happy pair much health, wealth and happiness. The wedding cake was quite a theme of admiration with all present.

In the evening a ball in honour of the occasion was given in the School of Arts, when some 60 couples thoroughly enjoyed themselves until daylight. The music was supplied by Mr C. Cotter, who presided at the piano, and was all that could be desired. Mr T. Archer carried out the duties of M.C. in an efficient manner. The wedding was one of the prettiest ever held at Humula.

DEE – GREEN

A pretty wedding took place in St. John's Church, Wagga, on Wednesday last, the parties to the contract being Miss Ada Beatrice Hamilton Dee, daughter of Mr T.W.H. Dee, postmaster at Wagga, and Dr. Terence Albert Green, M.B., Ch. M. The ceremony was performed by the Very Rev. W.H. Pownall, Dean of Goulburn, who came to Wagga especially for the occasion.

The bride was handsomely dressed in a white satin costume made in the latest style, with long train, trimmed with deep real lace flounce. She wore a pretty wreath and veil, and carried a beautiful bouquet. The bridesmaids were Miss Florrie Dee and Miss E. Hassell, both of who were dressed in white liberty silk bodice with sleeves of cream satin. Mr H. E. Mitchelmore acted as best man. The bride was given away by her father.

Mrs Carew officiated as organist, and played wedding marches as the bridal party entered and left the church. After the ceremony the party repaired to the residence of the bride's parents, where the usual toasts pledging happiness and prosperity to the newly wedded couple were drunk in bumpers of champagne.

The happy pair then departed for the railway station amid the customary showers of rice. The parents of the bride and other friends accompanied them to the station, Mrs Green, mother of the bridegroom, came up from Sydney in order to be present at the wedding.

STINSON – DUNCAN

On Wednesday last the Kindra station, Coolamon was the scene of a very pretty wedding, the contracting parties being Miss Minnie Maud Stinson, fourth daughter of the late Mr John Stinson, and Mr William Duncan, formerly manager of Marrar station and recently appointed manager of a station at Narracoote, South Australia, owned by the Union Bank of Australia. The marriage was solemnised by the Rev. B. Barnett, of Narrandera.

The bridesmaids were Miss Florrie Stinson, sister of the bride, and Miss Gussie Cox (daughter of the Late Richard Cox). Mr A. W. Stinson, brother of the bride officiated as best man. There were about 40 guests present, consisting principally of the relatives and intimate friends of the bride and bridegroom.

The ceremony took place at 11 o'clock in the morning, the bride being married in her travelling dress of grey silk, with cream passanterie and the happy couple took their departure in the afternoon for Sydney, where a few days will be spent before going on to South Australia.

A highly successful dance took place in the evening.

PODMORE – GALVIN

A very pretty wedding took place in the Presbyterian Church, Tarcutta, on the 14th March, when Miss Louisa (Adelaide Mary Podmore, second daughter of Mr G Podmore, was married to Mr Thomas G. Galvin, eldest son of Mr T Galvin, of Oberne.

The bride entered the church, which was crowded with spectators, leaning on the arm of her father. She looked exceedingly pretty and graceful in a gown of white faille made with a train, and trimmed with Honiton lace, and a ruche round the skirt intermingled with orange blossoms. The long tulle veil was worn over a coronet of the same flowers. The bride was attended by two bridesmaids, Miss Florrie Podmore, sister of the bride, and Miss Fanny Galvin, sister of the bridegroom.

The church was beautifully decorated by the friends of the bride with ferns and flowers. The path from the church to the carriage was strewn with flower petals, and rice showered freely with good wishes. The marriage ceremony, which took place at 3:30 o'clock, was performed by the Rev. J. Spencer, of Adelong.

At the conclusion of the service the wedding party adjourned to the residence of the bride's parents, where the wedding tea was served. The bride was the recipient of many costly and pretty presents, amongst the collection being the following: - Cases of knives and forks, tea service, biscuit barrel, spoons of various kinds, hearthrug, cups and saucers, vases, butter dishes, sugar and jam basins, and many plate ornaments for the dining and breakfast table. The givers represent the principal residents of Tarcutta.

SHAW – HUNTER

At St John's Church, Wagga, yesterday afternoon was celebrated the marriage of Mr William Lendon Shaw, eldest son of Mr William Shaw, and partner in the firm of William Shaw and Son, of Wagga, to Miss Lucy Hunter, fourth daughter of Mr W. C. Hunter, of Wagga. The ceremony was performed by the Very Rev. Dean Pownall, and there was a large gathering present.

The church was prettily decorated by a number of friends of the bride, who in addition to making a gay display of seasonable flowers, had a large bell erected over the altar, covered with white Chrysanthemums.

The bride was given away by her father, and the bridesmaids were Miss Flossie Hunter (sister to the bride), Miss Shaw (sister to the bridegroom), and Miss Garland. Mr Bert Hunter was best man.

The bride was tastefully attired in ivory satin, richly trimmed with lace, and carried a handsome shower bouquet. The bridesmaids' costumes were of eau de nil, with black velvet hats. Each carried a basket of white flowers, and wore a pretty gold brooch of a crescent design with pearls and bell pendant, the gift of the bridegroom.

The Wedding March was played by Mr F. C. Burry, the church organist, as the company were leaving the church. After the ceremony the party, which consisted of the immediate relations and a number of friends from Sydney, New Zealand, and other places, were driven to "Rotha", the residence of the bride's parents, where the wedding breakfast was partaken of. The guests were entertained during the afternoon at "Rotha" and Mr and Mrs Shaw left town by mail train on their honeymoon trip for Sydney, en route to the Blue Mountains.

RAY – CRACKNELL

A very pretty wedding took place yesterday at Railway View, Brucedale, the residence of the bride's parents. The contracting parties were Miss Hanna Ray, eldest daughter of Mr. John Ray, and Mr Joseph Cracknell, of Picton. The Rev. D. C. Bates was the officiating clergyman, the bride being given away by her father. The bridesmaids were Miss E. Boardman and Miss Wells, Mr John Ray, jnr., acting as best man.

The bride was very tastefully attired, and the costumes of the bridesmaids were also most attractive. After the ceremony the wedding party sat down to a well-appointed breakfast, which proved a most enjoyable festivity. The toast of the newly married couple was proposed in choice language by the Rev. D.C. Bates, and appropriately responded to by the bridegroom. "The Bride's Parents" and other toasts which followed were also warmly received and responded to.

The bridal party left by the mail train on their honeymoon trip, receiving the hearty felicitations and wishes for their future happiness from those assembled to see them off.

Afterwards the wedding festivities were kept up at Railway View, a ball taking place in the evening, at which dancing was kept up until a late hour.

WILSON - McINTYRE

One of those interesting events that in all ages and civilised countries excite a gentle flutter of expectancy and sympathy in the bosoms of un-married young ladies (and young gentlemen as well), took place in the Presbyterian Church, Adelong, on Wednesday morning, when the Rev. Mr. G. Stewart united in the 'silken bonds' of matrimony, Miss Alice M. Wilson, fourth daughter of Mr. David Wilson, J.P., Kempsey Lodge, to Mr. William R. McIntyre, of Oura, Wagga Wagga.

The arrangements in connection with the wedding (reports the Tumut Times), were most complete, and reflected very great credit indeed upon Mr. and Mrs. Wilson the bride's parents.

A large party drove from Kempsey Lodge to the church which was crowded with the people awaiting the bridal company. The handsome bride, who looked quite contented and happy, and who was given away by her father, was beautifully attired in cream Bengaline silk, trimmed with rich lace, wearing on her head a handsome wreath of orange blossoms and carrying in her hand a unique shower bouquet composed of hyacinths, tuber roses and maiden hair.

The bridesmaids were Miss Maude McIntyre (sister to the groom), and Miss Agnes Wilson (sister to the bride). They both wore elegant costumes, of cream hopsack, trimmed with white brown fur, with hats to match, their pretty bouquets being of violets, white hyacinths, and autumn leaves. The 'best men' were Mr. W. Crane and Mr. McNickle.

A large number of persons, exclusive of those who were present by invitation, assembled to witness the ceremony, which occupied not quite an hour. After the nuptial knot was tied the rev. celebrant addressed a few very nice and appropriate words to the happy pair, who left the church to the accompaniment of the 'Wedding March,' and as they proceeded to the vehicle awaiting them they received the customary sprinkling of rice and flowers. There were no slippers brought into requisition, no doubt to the joy of the individuals principally concerned.

The bridal party, to the number of about 40 ladies and gentlemen, relatives and very old friends of the bride and her parents then drove to Kempsey Lodge, where the festivities and toasts common to such occasions were indulged in. A most sumptuous break-fast had been provided, all the viands of the season being amply supplied.

A numerous collection of handsome and costly wedding presents were displayed in the drawing-room, and conspicuous amongst the gifts was a cheque for a substantial amount from the bride's father, as well as several smaller ones from friends in Sydney.

After breakfast the members of the wedding party were photographed in a group, by the two artists located in Adelong at present, Messrs. Ferguson and Nicholas. The bridal couple then left for Gundagai, en route to Sydney, where they will spend their honeymoon; and the guests whiled away the afternoon in visiting the falls on Adelong Creek and inspecting other points of interest in the picturesque locality of the residence of the bride's parents.

In the evening about 80 couples met at the homestead, and indulged in the fantastic exercise of dancing until daylight the following morning, the music provided being excellent, and Mr. and Mrs. Wilson acquitted themselves in a manner not to be excelled as host and hostess.

MORROW – MCCALL

A very pretty wedding was celebrated at Cross Road yesterday when Mr Francis William Morrow, eldest son of Mrs W. Morrow, and Miss Annie Isabella McCall, daughter of Mr Gilbert McCall, were married. The Rev. D.C. Bates officiated, and the marriage took place at Collengrove, the residence of the bride's parents.

The bride, who was prettily attired in cream and white, was given away by her father. The bridesmaids were Miss Flora McCall, sister of the bride and Miss Annie Hayes (North Wagga). Mr J.H. Morrow acted as best man.

After the marriage ceremony had concluded the company, which included a large number of visitors, adjourned to a large new barn, which had been tastefully arranged as the breakfast room. About 25 couples sat down to a sumptuous spread. Games of various kinds were indulged in during the afternoon, and the festivities were continued in the evening by a ball at which there was a very large attendance. Dancing was kept up till daylight and everything passed off pleasantly.

DILLON – COX

A very quiet wedding took place on Thursday morning at St Paul's pro-Cathedral, Hay, the contracting parties being Mr Clement Dillon, clerk-in-charge of the local land office, and Miss Emma Mary Cox, of South Hay. The ceremony was conducted by the incumbent, the Rev. J. B. Armstrong.

The bride, who wore a tweed travelling costume, was attended by Miss May Meakes, which Mr W. G. Acocks supported the bridegroom. Miss Margery Meeson, a little tot, dressed in white and carrying a pretty bouquet, also attended the happy couple. The bride was given away by Mr George Meeson, the mother of the bride being also present.

Immediately after the ceremony the newly-wedded couple left by train for Sydney, accompanied by cheers, rice and good wishes for their future welfare. Mr Dillon was formerly in the Wagga Land Board office.

PLOWS – HUGHES

A large and interested assemblage of friends and well-wishers gathered to witness the union of Mr James L. Plows, son of the late James Plows, of Yammatee, a well-known grazier of the Cootamundra district, and Miss Mary A. Hughes, daughter of Mrs Spring, of the Commercial Hotel, Wyalong, sister of Mr R. Hughes, Lands Agent of Cootamundra, and niece of Mr D. Cassin, so well-known as an old and respected citizen of Mudgee.

The bride, who looked charming, wore a perfectly fitting plain travelling dress of pearly grey, with straw hat and ostrich feather, and was attended by Miss Maud Cassin in a tasteful pink costume and was given away by her stepfather Mr E. Spring. The bridegroom was attended as best man by Mr James E. Barnes, son of Mr James Barnes, M.L.A., for Gundagai district.

The ceremony was impressively performed by the Rev. J. T. Evans, and concluded amidst hearty and earnest congratulations to the happy pair from all present. A photographer who was in attendance then took two successful pictures of the entire assemblage which will serve as mementoes of fine novel and attractive scene.

A large party of relatives and friends sat down to a dainty and excellent nuptial breakfast at the Commercial Hotel, the chair being occupied by the Rev. J. T. Evans. About 1pm, amidst showers of the proverbial rice, discarded foot-gear, and many hearty cheers, Mr and Mrs Plows left by buggy for Temora, which, we understand, is to be their future home.

PARKER – CHAPMAN

A very large congregation assembled in St. John's Church last evening to witness the wedding of Mr George Henry Parker, of the Local Land Board Office, to Miss Eliza Harriet Chapman, sister of Mr R. M. Chapman, manager of the Australian Joint Stock Bank, Wagga.

Sometime before 9 o'clock, the hour appointed for the ceremony, the seating accommodation of the church was fully occupied. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. T.E. Owens Mell, curate in charge of St. John's Church, Wagga, and assisted by the Rev. Joseph Allen, Rural Dean of Benalla, Victoria (brother-in-law of the bride).

The chancel was tastefully decorated for the occasion, a large canopy of greenery with white flowers being formed over the altar. The bride looked charming and carried a bouquet of choice flowers. She was given away by her brother, Mr R. H. Chapman. Miss De Salis attended as bridesmaid, and MR C. H. Flanagan acted as groomsman. Music suitable to the occasion was performed by Mr F.C. Burry, both before and after the ceremony.

Mr and Mrs Parker left by express at 1:40 a.m. for Sydney, where the honeymoon will be spent, a number of friends being present to wish them "God Speed".

ASHCROFT – PABST

The wedding of Mr Albert J. (Bertie) Ashcroft, of Tootal Station, near Wagga, and Miss Gertrude Hawthorne Pabst, daughter of Mr David Pabst, The Rock, took place at Pinedeane on Wednesday 15th inst., the Rev. Alex McClinchie officiating.

The bride, who was given away by her father, wore a handsome gown of heavy white corded silk, with a fall of ivory lace from the shoulder, and accordion-pleated chiffon, which fell in graceful folds to the waist; the large gigot sleeves were also finished with ivory lace. The drawn collar was fastened with a ruby and diamond brooch, the gift of the bridegroom. The large veil of Brussels net (an heirloom) was fastened over a small coronet of orange blossoms. The bouquet was one of Searle and Sons "Countess of Hopetoun" shower composed of orchids, lilies of the valley, camellias, and trails of fern, with broad streamers.

The bride was attended by three bridesmaids – Miss Muriel Davidson, niece of the bridegroom, and Misses Oriel and Haidee Pabst, sisters of the bride. The former wore a frock of rose pink cashmere, smocked with white, and white liberty silk sash; the latter two were gowned in sea-foam crepons, with green silk yokes and cuffs veiled in cream lace, and cream moiré ribbons. The bridegroom was attended by his brother, Mr Walter Ashcroft, as best man, while Messrs David and Bertram Pabst and Archie Ogilvie acted as groomsmen. The bridesmaids wore gold bangles, the gift of the bridegroom, and carried bouquets of white cosmos and maiden hair ferns.

The bride's mother wore black figured cashmere with trimmings of velvet and jet; Mrs Ashcroft, snr. wore a black cashmere gown trimmed with velvet and jet; Mrs Fred Pabst (aunt of the bride), white silk, with black velvet yoke and sleeves; Mrs W. Davidson (Bullenbong, sister of the bridegroom), moss green surah silk bodice, with black flowered silk skirt and black lace flounces; Mrs Arthur Ashcroft, brown tweed, with velvet and fur trimmings; Miss Kelly, black serge and black velvet; Miss Patton (Wagga), a pretty gown of fancy cream cashmere; Miss Annie Kelly, grey tweed and black velvet sleeves and yoke; Miss Jessie Kelly, shot basket cloth gown; Mrs James Kelly (Cambusdoon), handsome silk black costume.

The bride's travelling dress was grey Ivanhoe tweed with brown velvet sleeves, the bodice was also trimmed with brown velvet, velvet toque to match, and grey Ivanhoe cloak. The bride was the recipient of many handsome and costly presents. The happy couple left during the afternoon to meet the mail train amid showers of rice and good wishes.

THANE – STOPPS

The marriage of Dr. Edgar Herbert Thane, of Wagga, and Miss Lynette Gertrude Stopps, second daughter of Mr Stopps, of "Loombah", Stanley Road, Hunters Hill, was celebrated at All Saint's Church, Hunters Hill, on Wednesday last, in the presence of a large and distinguished gathering.

The church was exquisitely decorated by many lady friends of the bride, and presented a most picturesque and pleasing appearance. Just as the clock struck 3, the bride entered on the arm of her father, who gave her away, and was followed by three bridesmaids, and as this small procession, on which all eyes were riveted, proceeded slowly up the aisle, the strains of the Wedding March echoed through the building.

One of the bridesmaids, Miss Amy Stopps, sister of the bride, was beautifully attired in cream satin trimmed with lace and pearl spotted net, and wearing a black velvet hat trimmed with ostrich feathers, while the other two bridesmaids wore very pretty gowns of cream cashmere trimmed with lace, white felt hats and ostrich tips.

The bride wore a magnificent dress of white satin and rich lace with a long tulle veil surmounted by a wreath of orange blossoms and carried a beautiful bouquet of same flowers. The bridegroom was supported by Mr Oscar Wilkinson.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Spry-Bailey, and the service was fully choral, the music being sung by the church choir, Mr. E. P. Truman at the organ. Amongst the many Indies in the church, we noticed Mrs. Stopps, mother of the bride, who was attired in a most becoming gown of Reseda green bengaline silk and bonnet to match; Mrs. Salter, light brown silk merveilleaux and plush; Mrs. Simpson, black bengaline silk; Mrs. Kirby, snowflake cloth trimmed with green velvet ; Miss Dean, Mrs. Lloyd, Misses Bailey (3), Misses Pearson (2), Mrs. and Miss Brerton, Misses Fitzgerald (2), Miss Goodrich, Miss Lumsdaine, Mrs. Grey, Mrs. Cowper and Mrs. Metcalfe.

After the ceremony the bridal party drove to the residence of the bride's father, where refreshments were partaken of, after which Mr. and Mrs. Thane left on their honeymoon trip through the South Coast district.

MACLEOD – DESAILLY

The wedding of Mr Roderick Alex Percy MacLeod, Manager of the Union Bank at Temora, with Miss Eliza Mary Desailly, youngest daughter of the late Mr George Desailly, of Brighton (Vic.) was celebrated at St. George's Church, East Malvern (Vic.), on Wednesday July 24th.

The church was very prettily decorated on the occasion of the Wedding with evergreens, camellias and jonquils, the decoration having been executed by the girl friends of the bride. A large bell of camellias hung over the chancel. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Canon Tucker, assisted by Canon Godby. The bride was given away by her brother, Mr Claude Desailly. Her bridesmaids were Miss Gertie Macleod, sister of the bridegroom, and Miss Amy Kennedy, her own cousin. Miss Leila Curwen Walker and Master Roland Curwen Walker followed the bridesmaids. Mr Fred Thomson supported the bridegroom, who is his cousin, and Dr J. G. Desailly, the bride's brother, acted as groomsman.

The wedding gown was of ivory satin duchesse, veiled with embroidered chiffon, and Miss Desailly carried a shower bouquet of gardenias, azaleas, maidenhair fern, and white ospreys. The elder bridesmaids wore ivory-coloured crepons trimmed with lace and ribbons, and large black picture hats with black satin ribbons and violets. The little girl wore a straight frock of ivory velvet reaching the ground, and velveteen bonnet; the little boy an ivory serge suit faced with blue silk. All carried crooks decorated with jonquils and violets, and tied with violet and heliotrope ribbons. The bridesmaids wore four-leaved clover brooches, the gift of the bridegroom.

The reception was held at Coree, East Malvern, the residence of Mr Alfred Curwen Walker, brother-in-law of the bride. The bride's travelling dress was of blue cloth trimmed with black moiré, black toque with geranium pink flowers. The honeymoon was to be spent at Mount Martha. The wedding presents were very numerous.

STEVENS – RUDD

A very quiet and interesting wedding took place in the Roman Catholic Church, at Narrandera, on Wednesday last, when Miss Emaline (Lynnie) Stevens of Narrandera was married to Mr Francis William Paul Rudd of Wagingoberembe Station.

The ceremony, which was witnessed by a large concourse of townspeople, was performed by the Rev. Father Gray. The bride, who was tastefully and simply attired in white liberty silk, large picture hat to match trimmed with white ostrich feathers and white satin ribbons, and carried a lovely shower bouquet, composed of tuber roses, carnations and ferns, the gift of the bridegroom, was given away by her brother, Mr Alfred Stevens. Two bridesmaids, sisters of the bride, were in attendance. Miss M. Stevens, wore cream nuns veiling and chiffon trimmings, with a hat to match trimmed with pale blue ribbons and forget-me-nots. Mr I Rudd (brother of the bridegroom) was best man.

After the ceremony the bridal party, confined to the immediate friends of the parties, were entertained at the residence of the brides' parents.

A large number of friends assembled at the station to see the happy couple depart on their honeymoon, and literally deluged them with the customary showers of rice. The bride's travelling dress composed of brown check tweed, blue satin trimmings, and hat in suite. The presents were pretty and numerous.

McLEISH – HERBERT

A very pretty wedding took place at the residence of Mr W. Herbert, "The Hollies" Bullenbong, on Wednesday, the 18th inst., when the Rev. G. A. Carver united in holy bonds of wedlock Mr George W. McLeish, son of Mr McLeish, of Warren, and Miss Sarah E. Herbert, daughter of Mr W. Herbert, Bullenbong, also grand-daughter of Mrs Colwell, of Wattle Farm, Oakleigh, and great grand-daughter of Captain Herbert, of Her Majesty's Navy, also great grand-daughter of Lieutenant Banks, of the 88th Royal Irish.

The happy event took place at 10am in the presence of a number of friends. The bride was attired in fawn cashmere, trimmed with brown brocade silk. The three bridesmaids were Misses L. Herbert, C. Herbert, and E. Herbert (sisters of the bride), and were very prettily dressed in cream crepon, cream lace and ribbons, the chief bridesmaid being Miss L. Herbert. Mr A. McLeish (brother of the bridegroom) acted as best man.

After the event was over the company sat down to a splendid repast. The Rev. G. A. Carver proposed the health of the bride and bridegroom, wishing them all joy and happiness in their future welfare. The presents to the bride were very numerous and valuable. In the afternoon the happy couple took the train at The Rock for Sydney, where the honeymoon will be spent.

BYRNE – NOAKE

On Wednesday last, Miss Katie Byrne, fourth daughter of Mr J. Byrne, of the Star Hotel Tumberumba, was married to Mr Thomas H. Noake, youngest son of Mr W. Noake, of Wagga, and assistant in our local Post and Telegraph Office, in the Convent Chapel. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Father M. Vaughan, of Germanton.

The bride was dressed in a beautiful white silk, trimmed with white chiffon and ribbons, and wore a white hat trimmed with feathers and ribbons. Her sister, Miss Jane Byrne, was the only bridesmaid, and was dressed in cream cashmere, trimmed with cream lace, and wore a white hat trimmed with cream ribbons and pale pink flowers. Mr J. J. McAlister was best man.

The wedding was a very quiet one, only the immediate friends of the family being invited. A number of friends of the bride and bridegroom assembled at the church to witness the ceremony. After the wedding the bridal party returned to the bride's residence, where the usual wedding breakfast was held, at which Father Vaughan proposed the health of the bride and bridegroom, and in a neat speech wished them every happiness. Mr Noake briefly responded, and proposed the health of the bridesmaid, coupled with that of the ladies, to which Mr J. J. McAlister responded and then proposed the health of the bride's parents.

The happy couple were the recipients of a number of presents and congratulatory telegrams, etc., from their friends.

BRISLAN – FOGARTY

Miss Mary Brislan, eldest daughter of Mr P. Brislan, of French Park, was joined in wedlock by the Rev. Father Dowling, to Mr Edmund Fogarty, eldest son of Mr P. Fogarty of Murrill Creek Park near Coolamon.

The bride was led to the altar by her father and was attended by her three sisters, Misses Alice, Julia and Kate, and by the three sisters of the bridegroom, the Misses Margaret, Kate and Ellen Fogarty. Miss Margaret Fogarty was the chief bridesmaid.

The bride appeared happy, looked very nice, and was most tastefully and gracefully dressed in a cream silk, trimmed with cream silk lace and ribbons, handsome wreath and veil, and wore a magnificent gold brooch, the gift of the bridegroom.

The chief bridesmaid, Miss M. Fogarty, looked charming in a dress of cream cashmere, trimmed with cream lace, cream hat and wore very handsome gold brooches, the gift of her brother, the bridegroom. Miss Alice Brislan wore cream shot silk trimmed with lace, cream hat and gold bar brooch, also the gift of the bridegroom. The other youthful bridesmaids looked very interesting in becoming dresses which were all of the same material, with hats to match, and gold brooches, the gift of the bridegroom, who was attended by Messrs P. Fogarty, J.P. Brislan, and P.M. Brislan, the latter acting as best man.

A number of invited guests assembled at French park on the occasion to witness the ceremony, after which all adjourned to a well laid out breakfast table, which was well and tastefully decorated, justice being done to the numerous good things contained thereon.

The happy couple, amidst showers of rice and good wishes, started on their wedding trip to meet the train at The Rock, a distance of 12 miles, accompanied by a number of kind friends of bride and bridegroom, conveyed in several buggies. The bride's travelling dress was grey tweed, trimmed with corded silk, and passementerie and hat to match.

MURRELL – REDMAN

The quiet routine of life at Ganmain was very pleasantly broken on Wednesday last, the 18th inst., when the little township was gay with wedding favours. The occasion was the marriage of Miss Minnie Murrell, eldest daughter of Mr Albert Murrell, to Mr James Redman, who has been a well-known figure in the district since his boyhood.

The wedding was celebrated by the Rev. H. E. Andrews, of Narrandera, in the new Wesleyan Church, and the minister presented the couple with a well bound copy of the revised version of the scriptures in honour of that being his first officiating at such a function in the church.

After the ceremony the friends showered rice and old boots, and blessings, upon the couple as they drove off to Pine Farm – their present home. Games and music, merriment of all sorts, plenty of dancing and universal good feelings made the hours glide swiftly by till the night had past and the peeping dawn saw the guests trundling home, leaving behind them sincere good wishes and many useful and substantial presents.

HELY – MARTIN

A pretty but quiet wedding was celebrated in Wagga last night, when Mr Alfred Frank Hely, third son on Mr John Hely, was married to Miss Mary Martin, eldest daughter of the late Mr J. Martin, of Camden. The Rev. G.A. Carver officiated, and Miss Martha Hely, sister of the bridegroom, was bridesmaid, and Mr E.A. Patmore best man.

The wedding took place at the residence of Mr E. A. Patmore, Kincaid Street, and there was a large assemblage of relatives and friends. The Town band, of which the bridegroom is a member, was in attendance during the evening, and played a programme of appropriate music in front of the house where the wedding took place.

There was also present a good muster of the Volunteer Fire Brigade, of which institution Mr Hely is a member. Music and singing was indulged in during the evening, and a pleasant and enjoyable time was spent. The presents to the bride were numerous and costly.

RAY – BRETTELL

A very quiet ceremony in the way of the marriage of Mr John Jonathon Ray with Miss Augusta Sarah Brettell, took place in St. John's Church on Wednesday by the Rev. George A. Carver, Incumbent. Only a few most intimate friends were present.

Miss Hilda Verena Brettell (sister to the bride), and Miss Lucy Seymour (daughter of Mr Edward Seymour, of Tattersall's Hotel, Wagga, a schoolmate of the bride), officiated as bridesmaids, while Mr Decimus Orme Brettell (brother of the bride) with Mr Arthur Ray (brother of the bridegroom), officiated as best men.

After the ceremony the happy couple, amidst rice, old slippers etc., left for their new home, via Brucedale, at which place the festivities were held in honour of the event and kept up until the small hours of the following morning.

Miss Lucy Seymour had the honour of making the wedding cake, and certainly excelled in that particular, as evidenced by the praises bestowed upon the cake, and her efforts in producing one of such excellence. The party took a final departure from Mr Seymour's.

The presents were numerous and valuable, embracing articles of worth as well as usefulness, and were received from parts other than New South Wales, Victoria being very prominent.

ANDREWS – McGAULLEY

A very pretty wedding took place at St. Michael's (R. C.) Church on Wednesday, the contracting parties being Miss Elizabeth (Lizzie) McGaulley and Mr Charles H. Andrews, both of Wagga.

The bride who looked very pretty, was attired in a costume of cream corded blamer with the usual wreath and veil. She was given away by her father, and was attended by three bridesmaids, Miss Maggie McGaulley, sister of the bride, and Miss E. McGaulley and Stella Jackson, nieces of the bride. Mr P McGaulley acted as best man.

Miss O'Connor played the Wedding March as the happy couple left the church amidst showers of rice and good wishes. The presents were very numerous and costly.

RAND – MCKENZIE

The marriage of Mr Robert Rand, nephew of the late Robert Rand, of Mahonga, and Miss Henrietta L. McKenzie, was celebrated in St. John's Church of England, Temora, the Rev. Dean Pownall, of Young, being the officiating clergyman.

The bride, who looked charming, was attired in ivory silk, with long tulle veil and wreath of orange blossoms, and carried a bouquet of lovely white flowers, her costume being completed by some handsome jewels.

The bridesmaids were the Misses Emilie and Elsie Wood, who wore white cashmere frocks, with picture hats of white, and carried handsome bouquets, which latter with gold bangles were the gift of the bridegroom.

After the ceremony the wedding guests were entertained by Mrs H. J. Wood (sister of the bride), at her residence, where the usual toasts were honoured, and the numerous and costly wedding presents admired.

Mr and Mrs Rand left late in the evening for Melbourne; the bride's going away dress being composed of dark green faced cloth.

WISE – BOYD

In the issue of the Advertiser of Tuesday, August 11th, appeared an account of the wedding of Mr W. Wise, eldest son of Mrs Taylor, of Uranquinty, the bride being, it was stated, Miss Boyd, eldest daughter of Mrs Boyd, of Springfield. The report came to us bearing the signature of Mrs Taylor, an old subscriber of the Advertiser, and consequently accepted as authentic.

Mr Wise, the reported bridegroom, and Mrs Boyd, mother of Miss Boyd, have written, giving the statement of the alleged marriage the most unqualified contradiction, and it is therefore evident that some malicious person perpetrated the hoax of very cruel character.

It is needless to say that the perpetrator has been guilty of a very serious offence, and can be severely dealt with if discovered. The annoyance caused to all parties aggrieved we regret extremely, although under the circumstances, we must be held blameless in the matter.

BOYD – FISHER

A very pretty wedding was celebrated at “Ellerslie” Coolamon, on Thursday 20th inst., the contracting parties being Mr Robert Downey Boyd, of Lake View Ganmain, second son of Mr David Boyd, of Uley, and Miss Annie Dunlop Fisher, eldest daughter of Mr William Fisher, “Ellerslie” Coolamon. The Rev. Donald Barnet, of the Presbyterian Church, Narrandera, was the officiating minister.

The ceremony was performed at 9am in the drawing room at “Ellerslie”, which was beautifully decorated for the occasion. About 80 people were present, all of them relatives or very old friends of the bride and bridegroom.

The bride wore a beautiful gown of soft biscuit colour, with rich trimmings of gimp and silk, and the customary wreath and veil. She also wore a handsome ruby and diamond brooch which, with the bridal bouquet which she carried, was the present of the bridegroom. The bouquet was composed of white hyacinths, orchids and maiden hair fern.

The bridesmaids were Miss Janet Fisher, sister of the bride, and Miss Boyd, sister of the bridegroom. They wore elegant costumes of grey, shot with terracotta, trimmed with silk and gimp to match. They also wore opal and amethyst bangles, and carried bouquets, which were the gifts of the bridegroom. The bridesmaids’ bouquets contained white camellias, snowdrops and violets, and along with that worn by the bride, were sent from the establishment of Messrs. Bros., Sydney. The bridegroom was attended by Mr John Boyd and Mr Thomas McCaig as groomsmen.

After the ceremony the company sat down to a sumptuous wedding breakfast where the usual toasts were honoured. Immediately after the breakfast the happy pair started, amid showers of rice and wheat, for Coolamon en route for Tasmania where the wedding tour is to be spent. The bride’s travelling costume was goblin blue corduroy, trimmed with fur and velvet, cape and toque to match.

Many beautiful costumes were worn at the ceremony, the bride’s mother wore black, richly trimmed with velvet and jet; Mrs McCaig wore black Brussels cord, trimmed with brocade and jet; Mrs Clarke, black satin; Mrs John Clarke, black crepon; Miss Clarke, fawn cloth, trimmed with silk and gimp; Miss Jessie Clarke, cornflower blue, trimmed silk and gimp; Mrs Wm. Boyd, black and terracotta silk and jet; Mrs Gemmell, black lustre trimmed heliotrope velvet; Miss Gemmell, dark green costume; Miss McCaig, grey lustre, trimmed jet; Miss M. McCaig, pretty pearly costume; Miss McLeod, black and white silk; Miss Menzies, fawn costume with velvet cape.

The wedding presents were numerous and costly, consisting of quite a handsome display of silver and many cheques, but most noticeable amongst them was a beautiful gold watch of elegant workmanship, presented to the bride by the Uley bachelors, as a token of their esteem.

KENNEDY – LINCOLN

St. Thomas' Church of England, Narrandera, was the scene of a very pretty event on Wednesday morning, when Mr Arthur D. Kennedy was united in wedlock to Miss Miriam Lincoln, the Rev. Chas. Eldrid officiating.

The wedding was a choral one, and the church was prettily decorated for the occasion, and well filled with friends of the bride and bridegroom.

The bride, who was given away by her brother, Mr. T. Lincoln, looked exceedingly well in a white brocaded satin dress with court train, and was attended by two bridesmaids in the Misses Hattie and Alice Lincoln, while Mr Kennedy was supported by Mr. Eaton as best man.

The ceremony over, the wedded ones with their guests adjourned to a sumptuous lunch at the residence of the bride's mother, and the happy couple afterwards left by rail for Brisbane to spend their honeymoon, a large number of friends sending them off midst showers of rice, old boots, and hearty good wishes. The presents were numerous, useful and costly.

O'MARA – TRÉFLÉ

A marriage in which a good deal of interest has been taken, took place at the residence of Mr J. E. Moloney, of Toole's Creek, on Wednesday, 30 inst., when Miss Agnes Mildred O'Mara, daughter of the late Mr Edward O'Mara, J.P., of Tumut, was joined in the bonds of wedlock to Mr Charles Bede Tréflé, of Temora. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Father Slattery, of Wagga, assisted by the Rev. Father Carroll. Invitations were limited almost entirely to the relatives of the bride and bridegroom.

The bride was given away by her brother-in-law, Mr J. E. Moloney, and was attended by three bridesmaids, her two sisters, Miss Cissie O'Mara, Miss Mary Eva O'Mara, and the sister of the bridegroom, Miss Tréflé. The bridegroom was attended by his brother Mr J. L. Tréflé, and MR Edward O'Mara, brother of the bride.

The bride looked charming in a costume of white Llama, trimmed with silk Honiton lace and pearl passimentrie, and wore the customary wreath and veil. The Misses O'Mara wore cram fancy veiling trimmed with buttercup silk and lace, with hats to match. Miss Tréflé wore pale blue chellimellange and pink floral chene, with hat to match.

After the ceremony, the wedding party sat down to a sumptuous breakfast, prepared by Mr Moloney, the bridal cake being centre of attraction, and reflection great credit on Mr Cooke's skill as a confectioner.

After breakfast several groups were photographed by Mr Henningham of Wagga. The party then drove into town in time to catch the mail train for Sydney, and were met at the railway station by a number of friends, who sent the young couple off amidst a fusillade of rice and good wishes. The wedding was kept up at Mr Moloney's place, until the small hours of Thursday morning.

CALDWELL – CLIFTON

At the Wesleyan Church yesterday morning there was an overflowing gathering to witness the solemnisation of the marriage between Mr Robert Horatio Caldwell, of Lake Albert, and Miss Alice Edith Clifton, the third daughter of the Rev. Clifton.

The church had been prettily decorated by the members of the Christian Endeavour Union and as the bridal party entered the sacred edifice the choir sang the “Wedding Hymn”

The bride, who was attired in white Indian muslin trimmed with satin and Valenciennes lace, with veil and wreath of orange blossoms and carrying a beautiful bridal bouquet, was given away by her brother-in-law.

The bridesmaids, the Misses Rose and Kate Caldwell, wore smart dresses of grass lawn over pale green, with trimmings to correspond to the latter colour, and bouquets of pink roses and grasses. The three youthful daughters of Mr Clifton, who were costumed in white hailstone muslin and pale blue ribbons, and carried baskets of flowers, acted as bridesmaids. Mr H. Caldwell was the best man. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Mr Clifton, and as the party left the church, the organist, Mr Peter Hill played Mendelssohn’s Wedding March.

Breakfast was laid in the adjoining schoolroom, which had been profusely decorated by the girl friends of the bride. Over 30 guests were received. The bride was the recipient of a large number of costly and valuable presents.

Mr and Mrs Caldwell left by the mail train the same morning for Bright, in Victoria, and the popularity of the young couple was strikingly exemplified by the assemblage of an especially large number of friends, who had gathered at the station to say goodbye and express their hearty good wishes.

SNODGRASS – HEAP

A quiet wedding took place at “Kinvarra”, the residence of Mr Henry Mellor, on the 14th inst., when Miss Henrietta (Ettie) Heap, third daughter of Mr Henry Heap, of Yerong Creek, was joined in the holy bonds of matrimony to Mr Allen Snodgrass, son of Mr Jas. Snodgrass, of Summerlea. The Rev. Alexander McClinchie, Presbyterian Minister of Culcairn, performed the ceremony.

The bride looked exceedingly handsome in a beautiful train dress of white nun’s veiling, trimmed with white silk and chiffon, tulle veil, with wreath of orange blossoms. Her bouquet consisted of white camellias, fuchsias, maiden-hair ferns, and long white streamers, presented by the bridegroom.

The chief bridesmaid, Miss De Groot, wore a handsome costume of cream nun’s veiling, corded silk, and cream lace trimmings, and cream hat, with plumes. She carried a shower bouquet, the gift of the bridegroom. The assistant bridesmaids, Miss Maud Bourne and Gladys Kimpsch were attired, the former in pink nun’s veiling, white lace trimmings, white picture hat, with white ribbons and white ostrich feathers, the latter in eau-de-nil nun’s veiling, white lace trimmings, white picture hat, with white ribbon and ostrich feathers, they carried shower bouquets, the gifts of the ladies groom. Mr William Snodgrass, the bridegroom’s brother, acted as best man assisted by Mr H. Heap jnr., brother to the bride, and Mr James Bennett.

After the marriage ceremony the guests adjourned to the wedding breakfast, which was dispensed in a large marquee erected for the occasion. Some 70 guests sat down to the breakfast, nearly all relations of the bride and bridegroom. After to toast list had been disposed of, the guest adjourned to the ball room, which had been beautifully got up for the special event of the day and the bride and bridegroom opened the ball, after which they proceeded to the railway station, accompanied by some 15 or 16 buggies full of friends and relations, to see them off by train – amid showers of rice – en-route for Sydney, Newcastle and Tasmania, where they intend to spend the honeymoon.

The bride looked really handsome, in her travelling dress of brown tweed, with brown and green shot silk trimmings, brown hat and ostrich feathers.

ERSKINE – IVERACH

A very pretty wedding took place on the 27th October at Emerald Farm, the residence of Mr James Erskine, when his fourth daughter, Jemima Erskine, was joined in the bonds of holy matrimony with Mr David John Iverach, third son of Mr Peter Iverach, J.P., of Coolamon, and nephew of Professor Iverach, Professor of Biblical Elegies, Aberdeen, Scotland. The Rev. R. Jennings, of Wagga, performed the ceremony.

At the appointed time the bride entered the room with her father and looked exceedingly handsome in a beautiful gown of silver-grey silk striped mohair, trimmed with white silk and pearls, and the usual wreath and veil. The maids of honour were Miss Nellie Erskine, chief bridesmaid, sister to the bride (who wore a pretty gown of cream zephyr and cream lace), the assistant bridesmaids, Miss Iverach (in cream nun's veiling and Valenciennes lace), Miss Mealy (light blue silk zephyr trimmed with Valenciennes lace and insertions), and Miss McCrea (cream serge and green silk and chiffon trimmings). The bride was given away by her father. Mr Donald Iverach, brother of the bridegroom, acted as best man, assisted by his brother, Mr G. Iverach.

The marriage ceremony being over, showers of rice came from all directions. Miss Mealy presided at the organ and played the "Wedding March". The passage from the drawing room was strewn with roses for the bride and bridegroom to walk on, and the bride and bridegroom, having received the congratulations of their many friends, the guests adjourned to the wedding breakfast, which was dispensed in a large room fitted up and decorated for the occasions, with greenery and flowers on the walls. The bride's cake was a magnificent one, being four tiers high, and occupied the centre of the table.

The happy pair left for Coolamon amid showers of rice, good wishes and old slippers, and the band struck up "Auld Lang Syne".

CALDWELL – COPLAND

“Hillside”, the residence of Mr David Copland, was last evening the scene of an interesting ceremony when Miss Nellie Christine Copland was united in matrimony with Mr Frank John Caldwell, the third son of Mr R. Caldwell, of lake Albert.

The ceremony, at which the Rev. R. Jennings officiated, took place in the drawing room at “Hillside”, which was beautifully decorated with ferns and pot plants. A large number of the intimate personal friends of the families were present and many other friends had been entertained on the previous Wednesday at an at-home held by MRs Copland.

The bride, who, looking charming, entered the room on the arm of her father, and was accompanied by her bridesmaids and the groomsmen, wore a handsome white Duchesse satin skirt with brocaded train, white chiffon bodice, brocade zouave, and white tulle veil caught up with orange blossoms and she carried a beautiful shower bouquet.

The bridesmaids were Miss B Copland, who wore white silk over pink and carried a pink bouquet, and Miss Violet Copland and Miss Greta Caldwell, who wore white silk dresses trimmed with Valenciennes lace, with silver wands and white and pink sprays. Mr Horace Caldwell acted as best man for his brother, who was also accompanied by Messrs Frank and Sydney Copland as groomsmen.

Mr M. Hann led in the singing of the beautiful wedding hymn ‘The Voice that Breathed o’er Eden’, and after the ceremony the grand “Wedding March” was played as Mr and Mrs Frank Caldwell received the congratulations of their assembled friends.

The happy pair left for Melbourne by the express this morning to spend their honeymoon amidst the hearty good wishes of their friends. The bride’s travelling dress was a grey coat and skirt, cream brocaded vest, and hat to match.

DENNIS – GROSVENOR

The name of Mr William James Dennis, farmer and grazier of Rose Valley, Brucedale, and who is well and favourably known throughout the Wagga district, may now be added to the list of Benedicts of Riverina, that gentleman having been united in marriage to Mrs Mary Helena Grosvenor, widow of the late Mr J. S. Grosvenor of Yass.

This interesting event was celebrated at St. Phillip's Church, Sydney, by the Ven. Archdeacon Langley on 28th February in the presence of a number of the friends and relatives of the contracting parties.

The bride was given away by her grand uncle, Mr T. O. S. Green, late chief inspector of the Bank of New South Wales; and attended by one bridesmaid, her niece, Miss Eileen Cullen. Mr Charles F. Butler performed the role of 'best man', and proceeded from Narrandera to Sydney to be present at this ceremony. About eighty were present, being mostly friends of the bride and bridegroom.

A large number of presents were received from the numerous friends of the parties, the gifts being for the most part of a useful and valuable nature. Mr and Mrs Dennis left on the evening of the wedding for the Illawarra dist., where the honeymoon will be spent, amidst the congratulations of a large assemblage.

Mr Dennis is the eldest son of the late Mr Joseph Tracton Dennis, and the bride is the daughter of Mr James Styles, of Bullamalita. Upon their return to Wagga Mr and Mrs Dennis will proceed to Rose Valley, where a well-ordered residence has been erected by Mr Dennis.

JACKSON – RAND

On August 1, at St Phillip's Church, Sydney, the Ven. Archdeacon Langley officiated at a pretty, but quiet, wedding of Miss Ethel Rand, only daughter of Mr and Mrs William Rand, of "Maryton", Arncliffe, late of Wagga Wagga, was married to Mr Robert Jackson, of Rossford, Essex England, and Mahonga Station, near Albury.

The bride who, entered the church on the arm of her father, was gowned in a stylish grey cloth costume, with yoke of white cloth outlined with grey silk braid. A design in the white cloth was carried out on the skirt, finished with the grey braiding. Her hat was of white straw, with white chiffon, gold passementerie, and white plumes. She wore a handsome diamond and sapphire star, and carried a bouquet of white flowers, the gifts of the bridegroom.

She was attended by Miss Hattie Butchart as bridesmaid, who was dressed in blue and green shot silk, trimmed with cream lace and ribbons. She wore a stylish hat of blue straw, with white silk and quills. Her gifts from the bridegroom were a bouquet of pink roses, and a pretty gold and pearl brooch. The bridegroom was supported by Mr Selwin King as best man.

Mr Harmer presided at the organ and played Mendelssohn's Wedding March as the bridal pair were leaving the church. After the ceremony, Mr and Mrs Rand held a reception at Petty's Hotel, where the newly married pair received the congratulations of their friends. Light refreshments were served, and later on the bride and bridegroom left, amid a shower of rose leaves and confetti, by express train for Melbourne, where the honeymoon will be spent.

KRAUSE – SCHIRMER

A very enjoyable gathering took place on Thursday last at the residence of Mr and Mrs A. Krause, "Fairlight", Milbrulong, the occasion being the marriage of their daughter, Miss Emma Krause, to Mr Oswald Schirmer.

There was a large attendance of the friends of the families, about 70 persons being present. The guests began to arrive about 10am, and soon afterwards an excellent breakfast was served for the visitors, being greatly appreciated. Later on, a start was made for Mittagong, where the happy couple were united at the Union Church. A regular procession was formed, no less than ten vehicles taking part in it. Arrived at Mittagong, the marriage ceremony was performed, the Rev, Pastor Weise, of Jindera, officiating.

The bride wore a becoming costume, consisting of a pale blue water wave silk bodice, trimmed with white lace, and pale blue nun's veiling skirt, and looked charming.

Among the other dresses worn by ladies present were: - Miss Amelia Krause, figured cream muslin trimmed with lace; Miss O. Schirmer, cream delaine dress trimmed with white heliotrope and sash to match; Miss L. Krause, figured white muslin trimmed with lace; Miss E. Peach, cream nun's veiling trimmed with lace; Miss S. Schirmer, nun's veiling trimmed with lace and heliotrope sash to match; Miss E. Schultz, cream cambric dress trimmed with lace; Miss E. Menz, white muslin, with blue sash.

When the ceremony was over a start on the return journey home was made a very fair speed, and about halfway a halt was made, when refreshments were handed around. Upon arriving at "Fairlight" the party sat down to a splendid wedding breakfast. A large marquee had been erected and was ample to accommodate all the guests. The tent was very prettily decorated, and the good things provided were heartily enjoyed. Mr and Mrs Krause had spared no effort to make their guests happy and comfortable.

About 10 o'clock in the evening the visitors proceeded to the ball room, where dancing was indulged in until daylight. Mr W. Krause acted efficiently as M.C., and the music supplied by different people was first-class. About 1 o'clock supper was partaken of, when a few toasts were enthusiastically honoured. Mr A. Kiel proposed the health of the "Bride and Bridegroom" which was cordially toasted, the heartiest of good wishes accompanying the toast. The presents to the couple were numerous and valuable, and included several cheques.

HERBERT – RYNEHART and DICKSON – HERBERT

On Wednesday last the Rev. G. A. Carver, the Anglican Vicar of Wagga, visited Bullenbong, and officiated at a double marriage ceremony at "The Hollies", the residence of Mr William Herbert, one of the best known and most successful farmers in the district.

The parties thus happily united were Frederick Herbert, the host's second son, to Ann A. Rynehart, eldest daughter of Mr S. E. Rynehart, of Bullenbong; and John Wright Dickson, eldest son of the late Wm. Dickson, of Edinburgh, to Louisa Herbert, third daughter of the host.

The ceremony took place in the morning in the large dining room which had been built for the occasion, and which was tastefully and artistically decorated.

Miss Rynehart wore a charming gown of grey shot lustre, trimmed with shot silk and chiffon, a spray of orange blossom being secured by a beautiful gold amethyst brooch, the gift of the bridegroom. The bridesmaids, Miss Mary Rynehart and Miss Susan Rynehart, were attired in dresses of pale blue crepon, trimmed with white satin and chiffon, and each wore a gold bangle, the gift of the bridegroom.

Miss Herbert was gowned in grey shot lustre, trimmed with shot silk and chiffon. The orange blossom which she wore was secured by an amethyst brooch, the gift of the bridegroom. The bridesmaids were Miss Charlotte Herbert and Miss Emily Herbert; they were dressed in pale blue crepon, trimmed with white satin. They wore gold brooches, the gift of the bridegroom.

Mrs Herbert (the bride's mother) wore shot tweed trimmed with shot silk, and a gold brooch set with rubies and pearls, the gift of the bridegroom. As best man Mr Frederick Herbert had his brother, Mr Richard Herbert, and Mr Edward Herbert acted in a similar capacity to Mr J. W. Dickson. In each case the bride was given away by her father.

Subsequently a substantial wedding breakfast was served on the verandah. Under such happy auspices it passed off pleasantly. During the afternoon Mr and Mrs J. W. Dickson left for Sydney amid the time-honoured shower of rice and slippers.

The following afternoon Mr and Mrs Herbert left for Melbourne amid the hearty congratulations of a host of friends.

GAVEL – TEMPEST

An interesting wedding was celebrated in Wagga yesterday, when Miss Ethel Tempest, youngest daughter of Mr. G. H. Tempest, J.P., District Coroner, was married to Mr. Frederick W. Gavel, son of Mr. G. M. Gavel, of Gulgo Station, Condobolin. The marriage took place at the residence of the bride's parents, Best-street. The officiating clergyman was the Rev. C. Jones, and only relatives and a few intimate friends were present.

The bride looked very pretty in a tasteful toilette of soft cream veiling, trimmed with cream silk and chiffon. She also wore a veil and sprays of orange blossoms in her hair, and carried a bouquet of cream roses and maiden-hair fern. The bridesmaid, Miss Gavel, sister of the bride-groom, was attired in a pretty dress of pale blue crepon, with trimming of cream silk and lace. She carried a bouquet of pink roses and ferns, and wore a gold brooch with diamonds, the gift of the bridegroom.

The bride's mother wore grey silk and black lace; the bride's sister, Mrs. Busby, black merv. with pink and chiffon trimming; Mrs. Caldwell, snr., black satin and lace; Mrs. R. H. Caldwell, pretty costume of white muslin and silk; Mrs. Charles Jones, black grenadine and cream silk vest ; Miss Jones, blue fancy cloth with white yoke.

The following is a list of the presents: — Father of bride, cheque and silver egg cruet; mother of bride, cheque; Rev. John and Mrs. Clifton (Maitland), silver sweet dish ; Mr. and Mrs. Busby (Ashfield), hand painted afternoon tea set; bridegroom to bride, hooded sully; Mr. and Mrs. Gavel, cheque; Mr. and Mrs. J T. Gavel (Tullinga), handsome sideboard; Mrs. Smith, "Llanark," Bathurst, cheque; Miss Gavel, pair Mount Mellick pillow shams; Miss Panton (Molong), cheque; Hon. E. and Mrs. Webb, "Hathrop," silver cruet and butter cooler; Mr. and Mrs. D. Copland, silver butter cooler; Rev. and Mrs. Jones, silver mounted pickle jar and painted panel; Miss Jones, tray cloth; Mr. and Mrs. Cuthbert Ingram (Book Book) silver cruet; Mr. and Mrs. Peterson (Molong), pair silver salts; Miss M. Caldwell, oil painting and easel; Rev. and Mrs. Keith (Condobolin), set of carvers; Miss E. Gavel, handsome lamp; Miss A. Gavel, oil painting; Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Caldwell, silver gravy bowl; Mrs. Caldwell, senr., silver cruet; Mr. and Mrs. Frank Caldwell, silver button hook and shoe horn; Miss A. Gavel, table centre; Mr. H. H. Caldwell, silver serviette ring; Miss Florrie Bolton (Condoblin), pair silver serviette rings; Miss M. Caldwell, photo frame; Miss B. Caldwell, set of vases; Mrs. Scott (Condoblin), set of mats; Miss Hope Scott, folded mirror; Miss Muriel Busby, pin tray and tray cloth; Masters Harold, Eric, and Alex Busby, plaque; Mrs. and Miss Watt, set of silver spoons; Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Fletcher (Gobbagombalin), silver toast rack; Mrs. Lyons, plaque; Miss Lyons, (Mount Mellick) table centre; Miss Maven, silver butter dish; Miss Booth, pair of vases; Mrs. Savage, afternoon teapot; Miss Agnes Ingram, tea cosy and set of worked handkerchiefs; Mrs. Mylne, (India) handsome satin sachet and silver sweet bowl; Mrs. J. B. Henson (Newcastle), pair silver mounted salts; Miss Minna Henson, (Ashfield) oil painting in frame; Miss M. Ingram, drawn thread tray cloth; Misses L. and V. Gavel, a vase; Messrs. M. A. and H. Gavel, a cheque; Miss Ingram (Sydney), pretty work bag; Miss Ethel Gray, fancy pot and potpourri; the Committee of the Wagga Benevolent Society, a set of silver afternoon teaspoons in case, in recognition of her services as Hon. Sec.; the Wesleyan Church Choir and Christian Endeavor Society, a silver mounted biscuit barrel and butter knife.

The bride's travelling dress was a navy coat and skirt of cloth with cream vest, black picture hat with pink roses. Mr. and Mrs. Gavel left Wagga by last evening's mail train for Bowral, where they will remain for a few weeks prior to going to their home at Condobolin.

On Monday evening a social evening was spent in the Wagga Wesleyan Schoolroom, where a large number of members of the church choir, the Sunday school, and Christian Endeavor Society met to bid fare- well to Miss Tempest, who, during her residence in Wagga, had a lively interest in each of these organisations. The chair was occupied by the Rev. C. Jones, pastor of the church. An interesting and appropriate address was delivered by Mr. Jones, who spoke of the good work done by Miss Tempest in the affairs of the church, and of the great assistance that young lady had rendered the choir. On be- half of the Sunday school, Mr. J. G. Fletcher (Superintendent), said that in losing Miss Tempest, the school would be severing itself from one of the principal workers. Mr. L. S. Savage, as representing the Christian Endeavor Society, in his remarks eulogised the good work done by Miss Tempest and wished her every success and happiness in the future.

The members of the choir and the Christian Endeavor Society then presented Miss Tempest with a handsome silver mounted basket barrel and a silver butter knife. Mr. G. H. Tempest, on behalf of his daughter, returned thanks for the handsome present, which he felt sure Miss Tempest would highly prize, as he felt sure she would not only have happy recollection of her life in Wagga, but particularly so would be her remembrance of the various organisations to which she had belonged. During the evening several musical selections were rendered, among those who sang being Mrs. J. H. Wilkins, "The golden shore;" Mr. R. S. Heydon, "Dear England;" and Mr. H. Downs, "Alone on a raft."

FREYER – HANN

Miss Alma Madeleine (Popsy) Hann, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hann, of Wagga, was married to Dr. John Kennedy Freyer at Tenterfield, on Saturday afternoon last. Although the notice of the wedding was necessarily short, Miss Hann who was accompanied by her father only arriving in Tenterfield an hour or two before the ceremony, Christ Church was prettily decorated for the occasion. The dominant flower was the white rose. These choice and delicate blooms stood out prominently against a background of evergreens, whilst the altar rails were completely hidden by foliage and plants. The Rev. H. Granville Smith, the Vicar, performed the ceremony, the service being fully choral.

The bride was given away by her father. She looked decidedly pretty in her well-fitting travelling dress, a tailor-made costume in lawn, with a handsome white brocaded vest and a French picture hat of pale green velvet surmounted with dark green feathers.

At the conclusion of the marriage ceremony, those who witnessed it showered rose leaves on the happy pair as they passed down the aisle on their way from the church. When the street was reached the rose leaves gave place to rice (that old yet ever new custom), and it was scattered on bride and bridegroom alike, until they entered their carriage and drove off to the A.J.S. Bank, where Mr. and Mrs. Frank Thomson (uncle and aunt of the bride) had prepared the wedding breakfast, which was attended by the principal residents of the town and district. The usual toasts were honored, and many were the congratulations showered upon Doctor and Mrs. Freyer. It says much for the popularity of both, that such interest was taken in the event, although the notice was very brief.

Dr. Freyer is an Irishman and comes of a family which has supplied the medical profession with five members. His four brothers are doctors practicing in various parts of the world, one of them being an army surgeon.

The presents, which were numerous, were both handsome and costly, a number of them being solid silver. Mr. and Mrs. Hann returned to Wagga on Thursday.

COLEMAN – WALSH

The marriage of Mr William Albert Walsh and Miss Winifred Agnes Coleman took place on Friday afternoon in St. Michaels Church. The ceremony, which was a quiet one, was performed by the Rev. Father Dwyer and only the relatives and a few intimate friends of the happy couple were present.

The bride, who was given away by Mr W. Walsh, wore a handsome and becoming costume of cream bengaline with chiffon trimmings and hat to match. She was attended as bridesmaid by her sister Miss K. Coleman, who wore a pretty dress of cream and green.

After the ceremony the wedding breakfast took place at “Whitfield”, the residence of the bridegroom’s father, when the toasts usual to such an occasion were honoured. Mr W. Walsh proposed the health of the bride and Mr P.K. White cordially supported the toast and the bridegroom suitably responded. Mr W. M. J. Walsh proposed “The Ladies”, and Mr G. O’Keefe responded on behalf of the fair sex.

Mr and Mrs W. A. Walsh left for Albury, where they are spending their honeymoon, by the evening train, Mrs Walsh wearing a green tailor made travelling costume and hat to match. They were accompanied by their friends to the station and were seen off amid general congratulations and good wishes. The guests then returned to “Whitfield” where a most pleasing evening was spent.

The presents, which were numerous and handsome, included the following: - Bridegroom’s father, pony “Stormy”; Mr and Mrs Coleman (Bathurst), silver and cut glass cruet; Mr and Mrs McCall (Sydney), silver egg stand; Mr and Mrs Byrne (Sydney), serviette rings; Mr and Mrs Coffey, set carvers; Mr and Mrs R. F. L. Horsley (Yabtree), cheque; Mr and Mrs J. Fuller, silver cut glass pickle jar; Mr and Mrs Chappel, afternoon tea service; Mr and Mrs Johnstone (Sydney), dessert service; Mrs Fitzhardinge and Mr G. B. Fitzhardinge, two breakfast cruets; Miss Alice Walsh, hand-painted mirror; Miss Angie Walsh, pair worked slippers; Miss K. Coleman (Sydney), case of linen; Miss Maude Coleman (Bathurst), set of silver dessert spoons; Miss Nellie Tighe (Sydney), silver butter dish; Miss MacNamara (Sydney), silver jam dish; Miss Arthur, cheese bowl; Master and Miss Edie Campbell, doz. cut wine glasses; Rev. Father Dwyer (Wagga), cheque; Mr W. M. J. Walsh, cheque; Mr L. Trainor (Yass), silver salt cellars and silver-mounted pipe; Messrs J. A. and E. Bellair, set carvers – 6 pieces; Mr R. A. O’Keefe, set silver and ebony knife rests; Mr Howe (Sydney), silver jam dish; Mr King (Sydney), silver butter dish; Mr J. Taylor, cream jug; Mrs T. J. Byrnes, case of linen; and many others.

BILLINGHAM – MORRIS

A pleasant ceremony, and one which is rendered particularly interesting from the fact that it constitutes the first wedding solemnised at Lockhart, took place on Wednesday last at the Union Church at that town. The contracting parties were Mr. Thomas Charles Billingham and Miss Rebecca Morris (sister of Mrs. Jacobs, of the Green's Gunyah Hotel).

The church had been artistically decorated by willing and clever hands, and the effect produced was charming in the extreme. At 11.30 am, the bride, leaning on the arm of her brother-in-law, Mr. McClellan, entered the church, being attended by her sister, Miss Morris, whilst her two little nieces (the Misses Jacobs) acted as train bearers. The bride was gowned in a most effective costume of cream silk, artistically relieved with lace, ribbons, and orange blossoms, with court train, caught at the shoulders with bows of ribbon, veil and wreath of orange blossoms. Miss Morris, sister of the bride, was the only bridesmaid, and wore a charming costume of cream canvas cloth, trimmed with bebe ribbon and lace, hat ensuite, with effects of chiffon, ribbon and yellow roses. The Misses Jacobs (train bearers) wore dainty frocks of eau-de-nil, with butter lace and ribbons, white leghorn hats prettily trimmed with yellow ribbons and lace.

The Rev. Mr. Davis was the officiating clergyman and solemnised the marriage according to the ritual of the Church of England. After the ceremony, the wedding party adjourned to the Green's Gunyah Hotel, where in the spacious dining-room, the wedding breakfast was most temptingly displayed. Between 60 and 70 guests sat down to partake of the hospitality of Green's Gunyah's popular hostess. The health of Mr. and Mrs. Billingham was proposed by the Rev. Mr. Davis, who, in a most happy speech, wished health, prosperity and happiness to the newly wedded pair. A most enthusiastic reception was accorded this toast, the whole company joining most heartily. After honoring the customary toasts, at the conclusion of the breakfast the bride and bridegroom, amidst showers of rice and a host of good wishes, took their departure for The Rock, in order to catch the mail train for Melbourne.

The wedding festivities-were continued at night, when an enjoyable dance was held in the large building just erected by Mr. Jacob for a billiard-room. A most enjoyable time was spent by the company assembled and dancing was kept up with great spirit till 5 o'clock the next morning when on separation the hope was freely expressed that Lockhart's first wedding might soon be followed by a second and many more.

The presents were both numerous and valuable and comprised: - The bridegroom to bride, gold brooch set with stones and ruby pendant ; Mr. and Mrs. Kennett, silver pickle jar; Mr. and Mrs. Drummond, large clock; Mr. and Miss Rankin, one dozen silver spoons; Mrs. Lindner, teapot and desert spoons; Mrs. Davis, silver spoons; Miss Hughes, silver and cut glass butter dish; Miss Lawson, teapot; Dr. Davis, tray cloths; Miss Schurmer, jug; Miss Mclsaacs, silver and glass fruit jar; Mr. and Mrs. Hogan, cake dishes; Mr. and Mrs. Cavanagh, lamp; Mr. Antill, large reading lamp; Messrs.' Orme and Clemens, china tea service; Mr. and Mrs. Power, photo frames; Mr. and Miss Grove, cake dishes; Mr. S. Stephens, pair of silver engraved serviette rings; Miss Bamfield, carver rests; Mr. Heheir, cheque ; Mr. W. Richards, cheque; Miss Lawson, pillow shams; Mr. Langleys, jam dish; Mr. S. Jeans, tablecloth; Miss Koop, breakfast cruet.

DENNIS – PIPER

A correspondent furnishes the Tumut Times with particulars of the marriage of Mr. James William Dennis and Miss Ada Anne Piper, at the Catholic Church, Tarcutta, recently, the ceremony having been performed by Bev. Father O'Dwyer.

Mr. E. G. Bridle acting as best man, and Mr. John Hoad as groomsman. After the nuptial bonds had been completed, the happy couple returned to the residence of bride's parents, where a sumptuous wedding breakfast was partaken of. In the afternoon the guests amused themselves in a jovial manner.

The bride received a nice lot of presents, including a valuable gold bracelet and a pretty wedding cake.

She was tastefully dressed in white silk, trimmed with Valenciennes lace, and leghorn hat; and the bridesmaid, Miss. Reg. Piper, was similarly attired.

The newly married couple left for their home at Lower Tarcutta the following morning, amidst tokens of good wishes and kind expressions of regard.

CROUCH – PARNELL

A marriage ceremony of more than ordinary interest was witnessed at Mr John Parnell's of Back Creek, Cookardinia, on Wednesday 28 June. The contracting parties were Mr James J Crouch, eldest son of the late Mr Crouch, of Carabobala, and Miss Mary Ann Parnell, eldest daughter of Mr John Parnell, of Back Creek, Cookardinia, and the Rev. Father Fogarty, of Germanton was the officiating clergyman.

The bride, who looked charming, was attired in a steel grey silk dress, trimmed with silk and ribbon, with hat to match, and wore a handsome gold brooch, the gift of the bridegroom. The bridesmaids were Miss Lizzie and Gertie Parnell, sisters of the bride, who were attired in blue serge dresses, trimmed with rich cream silk, and ribbon, and hats to match, and each wore gold brooches, the gifts of the bridegroom. The bridegroom was attended by his brother Mr M. Crouch.

The ceremony was performed in the drawing room of Mr Parnell's house, and was witnessed by a number of friends. After the ceremony was over, all adjourned to the dining room, where a sumptuous breakfast had been prepared. After partaking of the good things provided, Father Fogarty showed his adeptness by most artistically cutting the wedding cake.

The bride then retired and soon reappeared in a travelling dress of fawn cloth coat and skirt, pink silk vest, with hat to match. The happy couple then left for Henty, amidst showers of rice and good wishes, there to join the mail train en route to Sydney, where the honeymoon will be spent. At the invitation of Mr and Mrs Parnell, about 20 couples attended a dance given by them in the evening, and thoroughly enjoyed themselves till the small hours of the morning.

EVANS – MCENTYRE

On Thursday there took place at Oura House, the residence of Mr Robert McEnyre jnr, the marriage of Miss Lilian Maude Regina McEntyre, the youngest daughter of the late Mr Willian McEntrye, with Mr William Thomas Evans, son of Mr Thomas William Evans, Newtown, Sydney.

At noon, the bride, who was beautifully gowned and looked charming in an ivory brocaded satin dress, with yoke and sleeves of mousseline-de-soie, surmounted by a handsome veil, and the orthodox wreath of orange blossoms, entered the drawing room on the arm of her brother, Mr Robert McEntyre, jnr., who gave her away, and attended by Miss Mulholland (Oura Station) as bridesmaid. Mr William McNicle acted as groomsman. Miss Mulholland looked exceedingly well in cream serge, trimmed with cream moiré silk and ribbons to match; she wore also, as a present from the bridegroom, a gold swallow brooch.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. R. Jennings, Presbyterian Minister, of Wagga. After the wedding an adjournment was made to an adjacent room, where the guests sat down to a sumptuous wedding breakfast.

Shortly afterwards the happy couple left by the mail train for The Hawkesbury, the bride wearing for travelling, a tailor-made gown of dark green. There was quite a gathering to see the happy couple off, the bride being very popular in the neighbourhood, and having for some years' leader of singing in the Oura Presbyterian Church and an energetic church worker. There she will be much missed.

ATKINSON - BAKER

A marriage of considerable interest to many Wagga people was celebrated at St. Mark's Church, Granville, on Saturday afternoon, the bridegroom, Mr. Austin Waring Atkinson, of the Commercial Bank, Germanton, having, during a residence here, extending over some seven years, made himself, by his happy disposition and pleasant manners, extremely popular.

The bride was Miss Ethel Mabel Isabel Baker, second daughter of Mr. W. J. Baker of "The Highlands" Granville. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Evans Jones, rector of Granville. The church was crowded, amongst those present being a number of the Wagga friends of the bridegroom. As the bride entered the church, leaning upon the arm of her father, the choir sang the bridal hymn, "The voice that breathed o'er Eden". The bride was attended by two bridesmaids, Miss Calvert, cousin of the bridegroom and Miss Marjorie Carver and two pages Masters Bernie Carver and Arthur White. Mr. Claude H. Reading, Sydney, accompanied the bridegroom in the capacity of best man.

The bride, who looked extremely well, was dressed in white satin, trimmed with tulle and lace, a white satin train draped from the shoulder, chiffon be-ruched sleeving, with veil and orange blossoms. The bridesmaids were attired alike in white silk.

The organist played Mendelsohn's "Wedding March" as the bridal party left the church.

After the ceremony the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Baker, held a reception at the Granville Town Hall, when over one hundred friends were present to wish health and prosperity to the newly wedded couple. Refreshments were served in the large hall and in an adjoining room the wedding presents, numerous and tasteful, excited interest and admiration. The bridegroom's present to the bride consisted of jewellery and a travelling trunk, that of the bride to the bridegroom a dressing case.

The happy couple left by the 5 p.m. train for Moss vale, where the honeymoon is to be spent. The railway station was crowded with friends, who showered the newly wedded pair with rice and confetti. The bride's travelling costume consisted of a neat tailor-made coat and skirt.

SCOTT – MANTON

At the residence of the bride's parents yesterday Mr James Joseph Scott, eldest son of Mr Patrick Scott, of Northcote (Vic.), was married to Miss Emily Mary Manton, eldest daughter of Mr John A. Manton, proprietor of the Exchange Hotel, Wagga.

The bride was given away by her father, the bridesmaid was Miss Carrie Manton, sister to the bride, and Mr S. Bateman was best man. The marriage ceremony was performed by the Rev. R. Jennings, pastor of St. Andrews Presbyterian Church, Wagga.

The bride was married in her travelling dress, a fawn tailor-made costume with chiffon vest, and the bridesmaid was attired in a fawn costume with pink chiffon vest, and wore a gold brooch set with diamonds and sapphires, the gift of the bridegroom.

A tastefully laid out wedding breakfast was partaken of in the "commercial" dining-room at "The Exchange", there being a large number of the friends of the bride and bridegroom present. The health of the bride and bridegroom was drunk in a hearty manner and a number of other toasts were proposed and honoured.

During the afternoon the bride, who not only had made herself very popular amongst a large circle of friends in and around Wagga, but had also endeared herself to a host of acquaintances in the outlying districts, was the recipient of numerous congratulatory messages and telegrams.

Mr and Mrs Scott left Wagga by the evening mail train for Sydney, where the honeymoon is to be spent. A large crowd assembled at the station to see them off, and they were there greeted with good wishes and pelted with rice.

SMITH – EATON

On Saturday afternoon, in St. John's Church, the marriage of Thomas Yates Smith, eldest son of Mr Thomas Yates Smith, of Glasgow (Scotland), with Gertrude Eaton, youngest daughter of Mr W. S. Eaton, of Wagga, was celebrated. The Rev. G. A. Carver performed the ceremony.

The church, which was prettily decorated, was filled with a large congregation of the friends and acquaintances of the parties. The bridesmaids were Misses Dora Headley, Ella Headley, and Gladys Eaton. Mr Norman McLaurin, of Macquarie Street, Sydney, acted as best man. The bride was given away by her father.

The service was of a choral character. Mr F. C. Burry conducted the musical portion of the proceedings. As the guests assembled a programme of suitable selections was played on the organ. Upon the entry of the bridal procession into the church, the choir sang the hymn, "The Voice that Breathed O'er Eden". During the service, "Deus Misereatur", and the responses, was rendered. The party left the church to the strains of Mendelssohn's 'Wedding March'.

The bride's dress consisted of white brocade, with an elaborate train of white Duchesse satin, falling from the shoulders. The bodice was trimmed with Venetian point lace and white lilacs, and the skirt with white chiffon. The yoke and sleeves were of white chiffon. The bride wore a gold bracelet, the gift of the bridegroom.

The first bridesmaid, Miss Dora Headley, wore white spotted muslin, trimmed with insertion and lace over yellow silk; black velvet hat, white plumes, and yellow ribbon. The other bridesmaids, Miss Ella Headley and Gladys Eaton, were dressed in frocks of white Indian muslin, trimmed with insertion lace and fichu, and wore chiffon hats. Each of the bridesmaids carried a crook of flowers, the gift of the bridegroom. Mrs W. S. Eaton, mother of the bride, was attired in a dress of black grenadine over heliotrope silk. She wore a straw coloured hat bonnet to match, with heliotrope flowers.

At the conclusion of the ceremony, the wedding party drove to "Penandree", the residence of the bride's parents, where a reception was held. The guests were received in the latter, and afterwards passed into the dining-room, where the wedding presents were displayed for inspection. A band was present, and played a programme of selections during the afternoon. Light refreshments were dispensed. There were about 100 guests present.

Mr and Mrs Smith left Wagga by the 5 o'clock train on Saturday afternoon. As they left 'Penandree' the band played "Auld Lang Syne". The travelling dress of the bride consisted of grey voile, trimmed with cherry coloured silk, and white merveilleux tucked vest.

The newly wedded couple proceeded to Katoomba, where the honeymoon will be spent. Afterwards they will take up their residence in Sydney. In the evening a small dance, to entertain the guests staying at "Penandree" and "Hinemoa", was given.

SMITH – HOPKINS

Miss Alice Maud Hopkins, eldest daughter of Mr James Hopkins of the Albury Hotel, Wagga, was married to Mr William George Smith, of the Shamrock Hotel, Numurkah, Victoria, on Wednesday, September 20th inst., by the Rev. Father Brady, at the Roman Catholic Presbytery, Numurkah.

The bride who was given away by her father, was attired in a handsome costume of grey cloth, trimmed with white floral silk, her hat being of chip straw neatly trimmed with white tips, white chiffon and buckles.

The first bridesmaid, Miss Smith, wore a cream lustre gown trimmed with red silk and velvet, and cream braided white chiffon and the second bridesmaid, Miss Ada Hopkins, sister to the bride, wore liberty silk trimmed with chiffon and a Leghorn hat set off with osprey tips and silk. Mr F. Barrah acted as best man.

The breakfast was partaken of at the Shamrock Hotel, where an excellent repast was provided and a large number of guests were present. A lengthy list of toasts was proposed and duly honoured. During the ceremony Mr Smith was presented with a purse of sovereigns by his numerous Numurkah friends as a souvenir of their respect and esteem on the occasion of his marriage.

Amongst the presents to the bride were many useful articles sent her by her many Wagga friends. After the breakfast Mr and Mrs Smith left Numurkah for Melbourne on their honeymoon trip, and they were greeted at the railway station with the good wishes of a large assemblage of intimate friends and showers of rice.

TAYLOR – POOLE

The marriage took place on Wednesday last at St. John's Chapel, of Mr Phillip Cullen Taylor, second son of Mr R. Taylor, of Pullitop, to Miss May Louisa. Poole, eldest daughter of the late J. J. Poole, of Caulfield (Vic.). Miss May Taylor (sister of the bridegroom), was bridesmaid and Mr W. Stevens acted in the capacity of best man. The Rev. G. A. Carver was the officiating clergyman.

The bride was attired in heliotrope corded cloth, trimmed with cream silk, hat to match, and carried a beautiful bouquet (the gift of the bridegroom). The bridesmaid wore an elegant costume of grey shot lustre with cream trimmings and carried a pretty white bouquet (the gift of the bridegroom).

After the ceremony the bridal party repaired to the Farmer's Home Hotel, where light refreshments were partaken of. A start was then made for Cressy Farm, Pullitop, the residence of the bridegroom's step mother. On their arrival at 6pm, the newly married couple were greeted with ringing cheers, showers of rice and congratulations of the assembled guests who numbered between 30 and 40.

The wedding breakfast was tastefully laid out in the large dining-room. The table, which was decked with flowers, fairly groaned with good things, the wedding cake occupying the central position. Mr Percy Post in a happy manner proposed the toast of the Bride and Bridegroom, wishing them many years of prosperity and wedded bliss. The bridegroom suitably responded and proposed "The Bridesmaids", Mr W. Stevens responding.

A move was then made for the spacious and artistically decorated ball room where dancing was carried on with vigour until daylight. Excellent music was supplied by Messrs Post Bros., W. Wise, W. Stevens and R. Walsh, and Mr T. J. Sweeny made an excellent M.C. Several songs and recitations were rendered during the evening and altogether a most enjoyable time was spent.

The happy couple were the recipients of numerous handsome presents.

GOWLAND – TURNER

At St. John’s Church yesterday afternoon the Rev. Mr Carver celebrated the marriage of Mr Robert Gowland (drover and selector) of Currawarna, and Miss Lydia Turner, daughter of Mr John Turner, Fitzmaurice Street Wagga.

Miss Turner, who has lived in Wagga since childhood, has made very many friends, and as a consequence, there were some 200 people in the church to witness the happy event. The building was suitably decorated.

The bride wore a pretty costume of white silk, with pearl trimmings. Miss R.A. Turner, and several other relatives of the bride and bridegroom acted as bridesmaids. Mr J. K. Patton was best man.

The wedding breakfast took place at the residence of the parents of the bride at 4 o’clock. Only the relatives and immediate friends of the contracting parties were present. Mr and Mrs Gowland left for Ballarat, via Melbourne, by the morning express.

On Monday afternoon, at the Guild Room, St John’s Hall, a meeting of the teachers of St. John’s Sunday school was held to entertain Miss Turner, in view of her approaching marriage. There were present: - Mesdames Gardiner and Street, Misses Beeson, Heathwood (2), Hawkes, Mongan (2), Cassidy, Angel, Turner (2), Sullivan, Marvell, and Oakman; also all the scholars of Miss Turner’s class. Rev. G. A. Carver, on behalf of the school staff, presented Miss Turner with a handsome Bible, Prayer Book and Hymn Book. The children presented their teacher with a silver-mounted jam dish, and a eulogistic address was read by the senior scholar. Afternoon tea was provided by the teachers.

JOWETT – HERBERT

JOWETT – MATHEWS

A double wedding was celebrated in St. John's Hall on Tuesday afternoon, when Miss Bertha Sophia Jowett, eldest daughter of Mr Thomas Denman Jowett, of Lockhart, was married to Mr Richard Herbert, eldest son of Mr W. Herbert, of Lockhart, and Miss Frances Denman Jowett, second daughter of Mr Jowett, was married to Mr Jacob Mathews, fifth son of Mr A. Mathews, of Lockhart.

The bridesmaid for Miss Bertha Jowett was Miss Lottie Herbert, and the best man was Mr George Jowett. Miss Lizzie Jowett was bridesmaid for her sister, Miss Francis Jowett, and Mr Daniel Mathews acted as best man. Both brides were given away by their father.

Mr Herbert's bride was married in her travelling dress, a pretty costume of grey cashmere relieved with cream satin and white chiffon, white picture hat trimmed with white ribbons and roses, and she carried a spray of orange blossoms.

Mr Mathew's bride was charmingly attired in white muslin, trimmed with lace, ribbons and orange blossoms, white picture hat trimmed with ribbons and white roses.

Miss Herbert (bridesmaid) wore a dress of floral muslin trimmed with white lace and ribbons and hat to match and carried a bouquet of lilies of the valley. Miss Lizzie Jowett's costume was of cream muslin trimmed with lace and ribbons, hat to match, and she also carried a lily of the valley bouquet.

The wedding breakfast was partaken of at Mr J. Manton's Exchange Hotel, where the usual toasts were duly honoured. Mr and Mrs Herbert left by the evening mail train to Nevertire, where their honeymoon is to be spent, and Mr and Mrs Mathews journeyed by the same train enroute for Sydney. The Rev. G. A. Carver officiated at the marriage ceremonies.

It is interesting to learn that Mr Jowett, the father of the brides, is related, through his mother to Lord Justice Denman, and is first cousin to the famous late Dr. Jowett, Master of Balliol (Oxford).

JUNOR – HEYDON

Yesterday afternoon Rev. Frank Duesbury solemnised the wedding of Mr Frederick George Junor, the local stationmaster, and Miss Mary Eliza (Minnie) Heydon, fourth daughter of Alderman R. S. and Mrs Heydon, of Kincaid Street, Wagga. The ceremony took place at the residence of the bride's parents and therefore was witnessed by only relatives and a few intimate friends of the contracting parties.

The bride was attired in a pretty dress of cream silk, trimmed with an abundance of rich lace, and wore the customary veil and wreath of orange blossoms. She also wore a gold cable bangle, a present from the bridegroom.

Miss Bessie Heydon and Miss Beck Junor were the bridesmaids. They were both dressed in dove-coloured costumes, trimmed with lace, and wore jewel brooches, the gifts of the bridegroom. Mr Junor wore a pair of gold sleeve links, present to him by his bride. Mr Will Junor, of Sydney, a brother of the bridegroom, acted as best man; and Mr Vigar Heydon, as groomsman. The bride was given away by her father.

Mr and Mrs Junor will spend their honeymoon in Melbourne. Last evening they left for Albany en route for the Victorian capital. At the station several hundreds of their friends assembled and gave a hearty farewell cheer. Mrs Junor's travelling dress was of green, braided with black moiré; she wore a cream toque.

SULLINGS – SMYTH

The marriage of Mr. Ernest Edwin Sullings, post and telegraph master at Yerong Creek, fourth son of Mr. Samuel Sullings, of the Commercial Hotel, Hillgrove, with Miss Ida Lillian Smyth, third daughter of Mr. James Smyth, of "Fairfield", took place yesterday (Wednesday). The ceremony was performed by the Rev. A. McClinchie, in the drawing-room at 'Fairfield', which was tastefully decorated with a profusion of white flowers and ferns, the bride and bridegroom standing under an arch of white flowers, from which hung a pretty wedding bell composed of white marguerites. The initials of the bride and groom were artistically worked in violets.

The bride, who was given away by her brother, Mr. Jas. Smith, wore a cream Surah gown, tucked bodice, with rucked chiffon yoke, cream silk drape and embroidered chiffon, sprays of orange blossom and tulle veil. A posy of bridal flowers was also carried. The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Amy Smyth, as bridesmaid. She wore pretty floral muslin, trimmed with cream guipure insertion, and pink bebe ribbon, cream chip hat, with ruby and pink rosebuds, cream tips and tulle. She also wore a silver belt, the gift of the bridegroom.

Mr. Chas. E. Smith, "Ravens wood", acted as best man. After the ceremony the wedding breakfast was partaken of. The Rev. A. McClinchie made an excellent chairman; and, in a happy speech, he proposed the health of the bride and bridegroom, wishing them health and happiness all through life. Mr. Sullings suitably responded. The other toasts usual upon such occasions were duly honored. During the afternoon Mr. McClinchie gave selections on his gramophone, and they were much appreciated.

Mr. and Mrs. Sullings left the mail train for Sydney and Armidale, where a five weeks holiday will be spent, amid showers of confetti, white flowers, and the good wishes and congratulations of their friends. The bride's travelling dress was of fawn armore cloth, souave bodice, tucked yoke, and empire belt of blue glace silk, white crinoline straw hat, trimmed with wedgewood blue and white ribbon, cream plumes, buckles, and blue hydrangeas.

MELVIN – WALKER

On Tuesday evening last the wedding of Mr. Alfred William Melvin with Miss Mary Elizabeth Walker both of Wagga, was celebrated in the vestry of St. Michael's Church by the Rev. Father Dwyer.

The bride's dress was a navy frock trimmed with silk and stitched in cream and she wore a lawn chiffon toque with cornflower wings. The bridesmaid was Katie Melvin who was attired in a brown dress trimmed with cream and dress hat to match. Mr. Bert Melvin acted in the capacity of best man and Mr. Frank Walker was groomsman.

On Saturday afternoon last at the conclusion of the ordinary business of the day at the Survey Office Mr. Melvin was presented with a double set of carvers, knife rests, handsome silver tea pot and twelve knives and forks by his brother officers of the Survey department and the officers of the Land Board as a token of the respect in which he is held and a memento of his marriage.

The presentation was made by Mr. H. A. Hare, draughtsman in charge in the absence of the District Surveyor Mr. Wm. Orr who was attending the sitting of the Land Board. In making the presentation Mr. Hare wished Mr. Melvin every happiness and prosperity in his married life, and said that if he continued the discharge of his duties in the service in the same manner as he had done in the past he would make a name for himself. At the same time, he presented him with a cheque on behalf of Mr. W. Orr, and for Mr. Orr specially congratulated him on his approaching marriage, and expressed every good wish for his future. He had, he remarked, been a protégé of Mr. Orr's from his youth upwards, and he hoped that he had a bright career in front of him. Mr. Melvin suitably responded, and in a brief speech thanked them all for their presents and good wishes.
